A Look at Princeton: One in Every Ten Here May Be an Alcoholic

Drugs have brought anguish and near-tragedy to many Princeton families in the past five years. But alcohol may be an even greater problem in Princeton homes. And it's certainly a problem that's been around a long, long time.

About 300 to 400 people in the Princeton area belong to the national organization called Alcoholics Anonymous. These are the people who have finally faced up to their problem. An uncounted number in Princeton haven't yet crossed that line.

One out of every 15 Americans is an alcoholic, according to the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies, but a Princeton member of AA thinks the ratio is closer to one in ten.

This AA member points out that when you consider the effect an alcoholic has on his family and his co-workers, he actually has an impact of at least four people, which makes the ratio even tighter.

Most people still think of alcoholism as a "sin," instead of the disease that doctors know it to be. Most people still think of the skid-row bum as the typical alcoholic, but actually, only 3% of alcoholics are in that stratum.

The more educated you are, the more urban you are and the more affluent you are, the more you drink, say the researchers.

That sounds like Princeton, and it is. But alcoholism here cuts across all the lines, as it does everywhere. Regular, enthusiastic attenders at AA meetings around town are lawyers, truck-drivers, doctors, construction workers, ministers, housewives. Some are white, some are black. There are almost, but not quite, as many women as men.

Many of these AA members attend meetings seven nights a week

— it's not hard to do in Princeton. (See box, with meeting schedule, page 2).

At the discussion meetings, they talk about their own experiences. When a meeting is "closed" — that is, when only alcoholics attend — each alcoholic knows he has the most understanding audience in the world, because nobody knows

Are You An Alcoholic? Take This Test

1. Have you ever tried to stop drinking for a week or longer only to fall short of your goal?
2. Do you resent the advice of people who try to get you to stop?
3. Have you tried controlling drinking by switching from one alcoholic beverage to another?
4. Have you taken a morning drink during the past year?
5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting into trouble?
6. Has your drinking problem become progressively more serious in the past year?
7. Has your drinking created problems at home?
8. At social affairs where drinking is limited, do you try to obtain "extra" drinks?
9. Despite evidence to the contrary, do you continue to assert that you can stop drinking on your own whenever you want to?
10. Have you missed time from work during the past year as a result of drinking?
11. Have you ever blacked out during your drinking?
12. Have you ever felt you could do more with your life if you didn't drink?

Alcoholics Anonymous says if you answer "yes" four or more times to these 12 questions you probably have a serious drinking problem.

THE KEY ROOM IN CARPI INVESTIGATION: The two-and-a-half week old investigation of the disappearance of Mrs. Laura P. Carpi centers on the dining room of her State Road home, where blood stains have been found on the floor and protective rug pad. The rug itself is missing.

Mystery Shrouds Disappearance of Mrs. Carpi

The series of disclosures surrounding the disappearance of Mrs. Laura P. Carpi from her State Road home February 8 could form the basis for a television melodrama, but a fictionalized show can always be resolved at the end. This may never be the case with Mrs. Carpi.

Blood stains, a missing rug and tablecloth, a wet mop found with traces of a bloody cloth lying across a kitchen counter may all play a part in the bizarre tale. But two and a half weeks after she dropped from sight, Mrs. Carpi's whereabouts are still unknown. In a late development, a $10,000 reward has been offered anonymously for her safe return. (See below.)

Officially the 37-year-old mother of four is listed as a missing person by the Mercer County prosecutor's office. However, James A. Dolan, a Philadelphia private investigator, hired by Mrs. Carpi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Miller of Philadelphia, believes the clues uncovered so far point to foul play.

The Millers started advertising last week asking anyone with any information to call a special investigative hotline number. (See ad, page 53). Mr. Dolan urged anyone with any possible information, no matter how trivial it might seem, to call.

Mrs. Carpi was first learned to be missing the afternoon of February 8 when she failed to pick up her children at school. Later that day, a friend's call sent her attorney, John Hartman III, of Mason, Griffin and Moore, and Township Police to search her house at 213 State Road.

The last person known to have spoken to Mrs. Carpi was a Somerville optometrist, Dr. William Noskowitz, with whom she was collaborating on a book concerning a reading difficulty, which affects one of her sons. After taking her missing 10x12 dining room rug and at the base of a kitchen dishwasher. Police have sent the tiny blood samples to be analyzed. It has yet to be determined whether the samples are human blood and, if so, Mrs. Carpi's type. However, their minute size may hamper proper identification Township Police said.

The light colored dining room carpet, on the floor Saturday night when Mrs. Carpi gave a party for several friends, has not been traced. Her friends agreed that nothing at the party could have soiled the rug. Mr. Dolan reported that it had not been sent to any cleaners in the Princeton area. A tablecloth used at the weekend party is also missing.

The rest of the house is in order. Nothing was ransacked and all of Mrs. Carpi's belongings appear to be in place, Mr. Dolan said. Her pocketbook was found on the refrigerator, her car in the garage with the keys in it. All of her cosmetics, luggage, driver's license, checks and money remained behind, the investigation pointed out. "As far as we can determine, none of her personal belongings have been taken," Mr. Dolan said.

He believes Mrs. Carpi was wearing just a white raincoat over her nightgown and blue bathrobe when she disappeared. No shoes or slippers seem to be missing.

Neighbors Questioned. Police and Mr. Dolan have both been questioning neighbors in the area and anyone who might have known Mrs. Carpi well enough to have some indication — Continued on Next Page tion of her present whereabouts. A 13-state alarm has been sent out and brochures about Mrs. Carpi are being prepared by state police. Her four children, Jennifer, 11; Colin Jr., 10; David, 9; and Laura, 8, are staying with their father Colin C. Carpi, 148 Fairway Drive. Three attend Princeton Day School, the fourth, Johnson Park. The Carpis were separated last March. Mr. Carpi has said that he is aware that some people are looking at him as the guy who had a potential motive. But he added that he had not wanted the separation to continue and had tried hard to find some basis for a reconciliation.

A graduate of Princeton and Harvard Business School, Mr. Carpi was formerly president of General Interiors of New York City. He has plans of starting his own business in the future.

Mrs. Carpi, a Smith graduate, worked in the White House during the Eisenhower administration researching social backgrounds of prospective appointees. She is described as 5'4" tall, weighing 122 pounds, with brown eyes and long brown hair.

Her disappearance brings to mind the case of young Jamie Zapolski, who vanished one summer afternoon in July, 1966, while riding his bicycle about a mile from his Rocky Hill home. His bike was later located in the Delaware Raritan Canal between Rocky Hill and Griggstown, but the youngster was never found. Foul play was strongly suspected here also.

CRIME UP SLIGHTLY

In Borough in 1974, "Overall, I guess you could say that crime has increased a little in 1970," commented Chief Peter J. McCrohan, as he reviewed the highlights of his year-end report.

Robberies jumped from 9 to 15, comparing 1970 with 1969. Other increases, with the 1969 figure in parentheses, were: larcenies 389 (361), breaking and entering 138 (137), and auto thefts 33 (26). Assaults were down 12 to 35. There were no homicides or rape in 1970 in '69 there was one case of rape.

There was a twist in narcotic crime: adult arrests rose from 21 to 34 in January. Arrests dropped - from 32 to 24. Gambling arrests doubled from 3 to 6 and suicides rose from 4 to 7.

The number of juvenile cases reported to police increased from 174 to 195. Proportionately, however, the number of juveniles involved decreased from 1963.

To no one's surprise, there was an increase of 5,900 in the number of parking and traffic summons issued: 30,387 in 1970, of which 1,889 were for moving violations. The figures a year ago were 25,996 and 1,460.

Most parking violations were for parking. Police handed out 21,980 such tickets in 1970 - 4,036 more than in the previous year. "And council has been after us for better meter enforcement. I don't know how it could be any better than it is," commented Chief McCrohan.

There were 1,081 tickets for speeding, 327 of these the result of radar. The tickets for speeding violators was Hodge Road with 257, replacing the long-held leader, Mercer Street. Mercer had 224. Others: Hamilton Avenue (157), Harrison Street (141), and a Washington Road (83).

STUDENT LOANS OFFERED

Through Rotary Club, The Rotary Club of Princeton has announced that it is again offering financial assistance through its Scholarship Loan Foundation to residents of the Princeton area.

Paul E. Orr, Jr., president of the Foundation, said that such assistance is in the form of loans for educational, technical, vocational or craft training for those who were originally from Princeton Borough, Princeton Township or a sending district to Princeton High School. The basic purpose is to help deserving students increase their earning power and then pay off the loans from their higher earnings so that others may be similarly helped. Preference is given to students not entering accredited four year colleges.

No interest accrues while the borrower is attending school or taking an approved course of study. Repayment of the loan and interest starts six months after the student completes his course of study and may be made over a period not to exceed five years. Applications or additional information may be obtained through Paul E. Orr, Jr., at 199 Nassau Street, or through any of the following Trustees of the Foundation: B. E. Bergesen, Jr., William B. Gosby, Samuel J. De Turo, Robert M. Dix, James McKeever, Donald A. Reas, Leslie E. Vian, Jr. and B. F. Weisbecker.

3 SUSPECTS ARRESTED

In Second Cross Burning, Borough police have arrested three suspects in connection with a cross burning Monday night at the Memorial Monument at Nassau and Mercer Streets—the second there this month.

Arrested shortly before mid night inside the Ivy Inn on Nassau Street were Paul Woldanski, 34, of Robbinsville, and George Huff, 35, and Louis Martz, 32, both of Trenton. All have been charged under a state statute passed in 1967 which makes it illegal to burn or desecrate a cross or other religious symbol. The three have been released in $500 bail set by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. and are scheduled to appear in Borough Court 1:30 on March 17.

Constructed of 2 x 4s and wrapped in kerosene soaked canvas, the cross was attached to the aluminum flag pole standard flying the American flag at the World War I monument. It was similar, police said, to the cross that was attached to the same pole February 8 and set afire.

Unlike the first incident, however, Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that the literature had been left at the scene of Monday's burning. He also admitted it was Klu Klux Klan literature.

Police declined to speculate where there was any tie-in between the two burnings in

BEST MARKSMAN EVER: Township police hopes of recapturing the marksmanship trophy from the Borough received a big lift last week with the announcement that the Township's newest patrolman, James Vandemark, III, a member of the Municipal Police Training Class at Sea Girt, had shot a perfect 300 with a .38 calibre revolver. It marked the first time in 50 years that Police Academy has been training officers that a perfect 300 was achieved. With him is Township Police Commissioner Jay Weinman and his wife, Donna Vandemark.

Princeton, or between the rash of cross burnings in Hightstown and East Windsor. Lt. Michael Curney, who is handling the investigation, reported that Borough police have passed all their information to Chief Lawrence Archer of Hightstown where there have been about a dozen burnings.

Pt. Raunae Cited: Chief McCrohan reported that Pt. Anthony Raunae, who was on special assignment in the area in an unmarked car, was instrumental in the apprehension of the suspects. Riding in the monument area at the time, Pt. Raunae followed the suspects in their car to the Ivy Inn.

Pt. Raunae had been on special assignment since the first cross burning, Chief McCrohan said. "It was one of the things we thought would happen again," he said.

The burning cross was first observed at 11:12 p.m. by two Princeton University protesters in their car. They called the campus security office, which in turn notified the Borough police. "We have a hot line with the university security department; it's almost like having another patrol car on the streets," Chief McCrohan said.

Almost simultaneously, the cross was noticed by Borough Councilman Mrs. Alice Male who had attended a meeting at Mayor Robert Cavely's home on Westcott Road and was on her way home. She came to headquarters and reported it.

The original investigation was conducted by Sgt. Ralph Procarino, and Patrolmen Robert Mucciarelli, David Lewis and Joseph Wilhelm. The charged cross was removed to police headquarters. Police declined to have it photographed, saying they did not want to do anything to prejudice their case.

Aside from the earlier incident this month, Chief McCrohan reported that the last cross burnings in Princeton that he can recall occurred in the mid 30s in the vicinity where the Westminster Choir College is now located.

HIGH SCHOOL SPACE?

Maybe Decision Next Week. School board and administrative staff may hold a public meeting next Tuesday night to talk about final plans for over-crowding relief and possibly reach some decisions. It depends on whether Superintendent Philip E. McPherson and staff can assemble all the opinions and facts they want by that time.

The public can find out whether the open meeting will be held by calling the office of William Evans, 924-5606. Board members held a spirited discussion about who's to decide when.

"The board itself must act," declared member William

February will blow out with a precipitation reading more than 25% above normal, but happily for non-skiers, it was almost all rain.
The temperature trend which has kept the thermometer somewhat above average during the last two weeks is expected to continue. Skies will be partly cloudy through Friday, with weekend showers a possibility but still no snow in the picture as winter begins its final three weeks.

Marvel, "there isn't a shadow of a doubt about that!"

But colleague Henry Pows not said adjusting the school system to relieve PHS over crowding was an administrative decision.

"I hope we don't pass a resolution," he said. "I hope that after board and superintendent exchange views, the Administration will follow our feelings without a formal vote."

Many Are Involved. President John Marks, who has commented extensively in the past on the roles of board and administration, said he expected board, superintendent, administrators, teachers and students to talk about the various proposals. Eventually a recommendation would come from the superintendent as a result of these talks. The board would then either vote or there would be a consensus.

Two Township school board candidates commented on recently published proposals for relieving high school space problems. C. George Frigerio protested that there was "no imaginative use of community facilities for things like a study of local government, or vocational studies."

George Hill suggested a grade shift (see "Topics of the Town.") Dr. McPherson replied that educators think a 6-7-8th grade grouping is better for younger adolescents than the 7-8-9th grade "little high school."

Engineer Bringer, associate superintendent, said it wasn't that at all. "There's not much difference between the two groupings," he shrugged. He did say Princeton's elementary school's haven't room for K & 1st. Mr. Hill proposed. They have a K-5 now. Besides, grade divisions don't work out equally. There isn't always an exact number of 25 pupils each, he explained.

Federal Funds Sought. The board approved preliminary application for $150,000 in Title III funds to cover three years of an Engineering and Secondary School Education program.

An extension of Princeton University's Summer in Engineering, it would involve 36 Middle School students poorly motivated in science and math. The program would take four summer weeks and would be held, as now, on the University campus. In the fall University undergraduates would continue the program in the schools. Eventually, high school students who had participated as Middle Schoolers, would be summer counselors.

A close follow-up is scheduled. Howard McMasters Middle School science teacher who worked with University faculty to develop the proposal, said 40% of the "Summer in Engineering" youngsters had made progress later in school.

Dr. McPherson emphasized that blacks and whites wouldn't be discriminated against. The program has been all boy and largely black in the past. Board member Mrs. Kathleen Edwards abstained in the vote. She doesn't want girls involved.

The board unanimously approved a similar Title III application for a three year grant of $48,000 to train people as Special Education teachers or aides. The Princeton Regional Education Association was approved as bargaining agent for all aides in the school system. It is the fifth employee group to be so recognized under state law.

Mr. Bringer said he'd like more comment from the town on the proposed "71-72 school year calendar. It was published, but copies are available in the Sony Brook Administration Building for people who would like to do home work before commenting.

The board unanimously rejected all bids for a new $1 passenger school bus to replace a 1962 model. Bids were unexpectedly high. The board won't re-advertise until budget priorities have been settled.

MRS. HUNTER RUNS

For Borough School Seat. Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter, 100 Bayard Lane, filed last Thursday, just before the deadline, as a candidate for the Borough's single seat on the Princeton Regional School Board. Election is March 30.

On Monday, Mrs. Hunter received formal endorsement from CARES, which cited her as having "a policy of firm guidance and direction for the school system coming from the Board of Education."

Three candidates now contend for that seat. Mrs. Hannah Fox, candidate of the generally pro-administration Committee for Princeton Schools, and Jennifer Hill, an independent. Mrs. Hunter ran unsuccessfully last year for the school board.

According to the CARES statement, Mrs. Hunter "recognizing the need for strong financial planning and control," suggests investigating the proposal of CARES Township candidate George Hill for a School Business Administration form of management.

The CARES endorsement, says Mrs. Hunter, believes "innovation" is not a goal in itself but one method of achieving a goal and should be subject to close scrutiny in light of the school system's goals after they have been established.

Speaking for herself, Mrs. Hunter urged the school board to keep on tap a group of citizens similar to the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Long Range Planning.

be responsive to the board. We should do this more often to keep the board accessible to the people," she stated.
Mr. Ford said he welcomed Mrs. Hunter's candidacy because it underscored his own independence.

"There is more similarity than difference between the two groups (CARES and the Committee for Princeton Schools)," Mr. Ford declared, "until you get to the issue of the Superintendent."

Mr. Ford said he wouldn't "wave the flag of being pro-anti Superintendent McPherson — you can't do that, and serve on a school board."

Mrs. Fox, responding to Mrs. Hunter's last-minute candidacy, said "It's good for the community to have a contest election, and I think the more points of view that are represented, the better."

All candidates drew for position on the ballot last Friday. In the Borough, the order will be Hannah Fox, Jeremiah Ford and Edna Hunter. On the Township ballot, the order will be C. George Fitzgerald, George Hill, William Marvel and T. C. Allen.

MORE FUNDS SOUGHT

For Drug Abuse Program. A detailed, closely-written 16-page report — penny by penny and person by person — has been sent by the Child Guidance Drug Abuse Program ("291 Witherspoon") to Borough and Township officials in the hope that the budgeted $10,000 from each municipality can be raised to $20,000 each.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said the new report will be considered by Council at its March 8 agenda meeting.

The "Special Project," as it's sometimes called, is aimed at teen-agers who aren't yet addicts, but who run the risk of future addiction. The basic idea is to give kids an alternative to drugs as a means of solving problems.

The Project was started in November, 1969, at the Child Guidance Whiney Center on Nassau Street. By April, 1970 — five months later — 26 teen-agers had been referred to the Project.

In the next two months, more and more young people turned to the center and by the end of May, 54 patients were on hand, either in individual or group therapy.

Use Soars 300%. The Project rented 291 Witherspoon in July. That move jumped the drop-in use of the facilities by a whopping 300% in a single month. "Drop-in" means kids who came to 291 on their own.

Last summer the Project began an arts program in cooperation with the YMCA. (This program is budgeted at $2,250 for the summer of 1971.) The arts program was started so that kids would have something more exciting to do on long, hot, boring evenings than "hanging out on Nassau Street." Nassau, the report points out, "has often been an undesirable catalyst for drug abuse."

By the end of October, the 291 Project had 45 active cases, 34 of them new. Twenty of those 34 are still on the case-books.

Quick Action Possible. What does the Project mean by "cases?"

The 291 set-up is geared to immediate action, if necessary. In one case, a mother appeared at 8:30 one morning with her 15-year old daughter. The girl was extremely high on a combination of drugs, yet she had been refused admission to a hospital because "she was not ill." The Project social worker referred the girl to the staff psychiatrist who immediately made arrangements to get the girl into a hospital.

Within three hours of her appearance at 291, the girl was on her way to a New York hospital which has special treatment facilities for her kind of case.

Players to Meet Sunday

A scene from Giraudoux's 'The Madwoman of Chailot,' directed by Philip Paul, will highlight the next meeting of the Community Players, to be held Sunday at 8:30 in the Little Theatre at the Unitarian Church. Anne Bredon, Susan Byer, Sylvia Fontijn, Shirley Kaufman, Amelia O'Neill, Ed Spiegel and David Turner will be featured in the scene.

Mrs. Kaufman, Players' president, will announce the play chosen for production in May by the group, as well as audition dates for those interested in trying out. The Playwright and director for the May production will be present at Sunday's meeting, to which all interested in theatre are invited.

News Of The THEATRES

SAVAGE. "Little Murders," A nice, deep underlying pessimism lies beneath Jules Feiffer's "Little Murders," and audience can test it out when the comedy opens into the McCarter repertory this Friday at 8:30. It will also play on Sunday at 3.

In "Little Murders" the New York City apartment of the Newquists is embellished with snot, poor failures, a telephone caller who "breathes," and the noise of sirens, construction, traffic, airplanes and gunshots.

Mr. and Mrs. Newquist will be Richard Brennan and Scotty Bloch. Their son Kenny will be Richard Pilcher and their daughter Patsy, Joan Weisberg. Feiffer's play opened on Broadway in 1967, and failed. It re-opened off Broadway two years later and was splendidly successful — probably, as one critic has pointed out, because the harsh realities of life in New York had, by then, caught up with the play.

and Kyogen theatres come to McCarter. They will appear next Tuesday at 8:30. Tickets are now on sale.

The art of Noh is believed to date from the 14th century, gradually evolving into the dance drama of the ruling class. It has been purged of all elements of vulgar comedy, and many of these appear in the contrasting Kyogen drama. Both will be presented by the Japanese actors at McCarter.

"SNOW WHITE"

On Stripes. The Salzburg Marionette Theatre and its troupe of "actors" will come to McCarter on Saturday, March 13, for two performances of "Snow White."

Shows have been scheduled for 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., to accommodate McCarter's youngest theatre goers. Tickets for both matinees are now on sale at the box office.

The Salzburg group was founded 30 years ago by a father who whittled puppets out of wood to amuse his children. Today's troupe is still centered around the Aicher family—father, mother, Grell and Frick—direct descendants of Professor Anton Aicher who was the original whittler.

Stage direction for the company's productions is handled by leading professionals from European theatres and opera houses, and the scenery is designed by artists from the Vienna Staatsoper.

Day School theatre. The production, an annual affair, is written and produced entirely by eighth grade students.

The first scene, set on Mt. Olympus, depicts Zeus being managed by his goddesses, with interventions by Ares, Hermes and Cupid. It is followed by three skits, presenting three myths in different styles: Daphne and Apollo in Primer form; Pygmalion and Galatea in flowery literary style; and Pyramus and This be in "mod" jargon.

The story of Arachne and Athena has been choreographed by Mrs. Lucy Gilbert. It will be narrated by Chris Cragg and danced by Sally Bishop and Suzanne Bishop.

The final skit, entitled "Open House for Aeneas," is set in the Elysian Fields, where various warrior heroes and heroines plot how to get Aeneas past Cerberus, the three headed dog who guards the entrance to Hades.

The show features two musical numbers, a chorus of god messes, and the grand finale. There are three intermission interludes, taped interviews with a psychiatrist involving the "strange cases" of La Croix and Narcissus.

"INDIANS..."

For Children, The Pennington Playhouse, Inc., will take to the road during March with their annual Children's Theatre production.

This year, it's "Indians In Jan's Jollies" by Michael J. John, a comedy set in the midwest in the 1890's. It is produced by the John Wither Spoon School auditorium on Saturday, March 27, at 2:30 p.m. under the aegis of the Princeton Park School P.T.O. Other organizations interested in mounting up the Playhouse should call Miss Sandra Johnson at 924-5255 between 3 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

"Indian" leading role of a young Plunkett of scrib and a "scrappy old lady" will be played by Miss Jefferson, who is Children's Theatre chairman. The Playhouse is a drama of the American theatre wing in New York.

Reily Betches O'Brian, a farcical comedy from the hills, will be played by the Madole of Trenton. It is a veteran of two past Children's Theatre productions.

Joan Delgado will be Maud, Grandma Plunkett's daughter and Charles Fortune will be Jeremiah Johnson, the grand son. Nancy Anderson and Clair O'Connor will share the role of Jeremiah's sister, Sarah Jane.

Chief Turkey Toes, the Indian character on the warpath, will be David Delgado, Gary Love man will be the Chief's Brave.

Ray J. Lowe is directing, and Mrs. Donald Ducko is producer. Others are Mrs. Charles Delgado, sets; Mrs. Raymond Darazo, props; Mr. Raymond Lusinski, make-up; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard B. Murray, sound; Mrs. Thomas Devrell and Mrs. Jay Fortune, costumes.

WIDOWHIT IS NEXT

For Pennington Players, Agatha Christie's murder drama "The Mousetrap" which has been running in London for more than a decade, will be presented by the Pennington Players in late April.

Gerald E. Guarnieri, the Players' president, has announced that casting for the five male and three female roles will be held this Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the firehouse on Main Street, Pennington.

The play will be directed by Tina Wilner, who holds a degree in theatre from the University of Maryland. She is a member of the staff at Westchester Choir College. Co-producers are Mary Ann Salvatore, Jack Rees and Mr. Guarnieri.

PEMBROKE SETS BENEFIT M. McCarter, The Pembroke College Club is sponsoring a benefit performance of Jules Pfeiffer's "Little Murders" this Sunday at the McCarter. Curtain rises at 3 p.m.

A buffet cocktail party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Chace, 67 Leachbrook Lane, after the show. Information and tickets may be obtained from Miss Pamela Long, 43 Palmer Square.

FORSTER, ON STAGE

With Susan Casti, Peggy Wood, who is sometimes called a "First Lady of the American stage," will be the featured performer in "A Passage to E. M. Forster," a program arranged from the writings of the British author. The evening will be presented at the McCarter under the sponsorship of the Princeton Chapter, English Speaking Union, on Saturday, March 13, at 8:30 p.m.

Compiled by William Roerick and Thomas Coley, who will appear with Miss Wood, the "collected works" were assembled as a memorial to Portrait of E. M. Forster.

LOVE MY WIFE: Elliott Gould and Brenda Vaccaro have the leads in the compassionate, entertaining film at the Playhouse and RKO Trenton.

Forster, who died last summer at 90.

The writer's works include "A Passage to India," "Howards End," and the libretto for Benjamin Britten's opera "Billy Budd" and short stories, essays and criticism.

PLAY POSTPONED

At Youth Center. In the "Five Times," the Ed Bullins play scheduled to open this weekend at the Princeton Youth Center, has been postponed until next weekend.

It will open Friday, March 8, and will play again on Saturday, March 9. It will also be presented the weekend of March 12-13.

FROM ITALY

"Fists in the Pocket." Grim and powerful, in the tradition of Italian neo-realist cinema, "Fists in the Pocket" is not, says McCarter, "for the squeamish."

The 1965 Italian film directed by Mario Bellochio, will be shown next Wednesday, March 3, at 8 p.m. as part of McCarter's International Film Series.

"Fists in the Pocket" presents a family consisting of a blind widow, two epileptic teenage sons, a neurotic daughter and the elder, normal son who supports them.

"TROJAN WOMEN"

Euripides in New Brunswick. Euripides' "The Trojan Women" is now on stage at Brecht West, the playhouse in New Brunswick at 61 Albany Street.

Performances are this Thursday at 8:30 and this Friday and Saturday at 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. For this production, Brecht West has added a Sunday performance at 3 p.m.

From 5-7 p.m. this Thursday, the theatre will hold a fund-raising champagne cocktail party preceding the performance of "The Trojan Women." Information may be obtained along with reservations to the performances, by calling 201-828-2750.

One of the earliest plays to comment on war, "The Trojan Women" takes place the day after the defeat of Troy by the Greek Army. This is the first classic Greek play ever done by Brecht West. It is directed by Eric Kreibitz, founder of the theatre, who has recently served as a McCarter director, as well.

PLAYHOUSE AND TRENT

I Love My Wife (now playing). Elliott Gould's fourth film of the year, takes a number of clichés about marriage and combines them into an absorbing, serious comedy.

Robert Kaufman's humorous and intelligent script and Mel Stuart's unobtrusive direction capture the nuances of the relationships between husband and wife, family and mistress. The film has a wonderful eye for detail from the life styles of the Forties to the look of suburbia in 1960.

Brenda Vaccaro steals the movie, brilliantly making the transition from a sweet sensual wife to a demanding, fat mother and finally into a sympathetically pentent woman trying to regain her husband's love. Performance gives a virtuoso performance.

PRINCE

Doctors' Wives (held over). This is an outrageous, often entertaining, soap opera written by Daniel Taradash - and you soon learn he's not quite about the hang ups of the doctors and their wives, who engage in extra-marital affairs to an extraordinary degree for the whole length of the film.

A bed swap ends in shooting by the Greek Army. This is a scandal, shaking the doctors' clinic to its foundations. The cast is headed by Dyan Cannon and Richard Crenna, with Janice Rule, Cara Williams and Carroll O'Connor forming the rest of the wives' team.

GARDEN

Perfect Friday (now playing). An irreverent British car comedy is directed by Peter Hall (who also directed last year's under-rated "3 into 2, Won't Go").

The unlikely cast is headed by Ursula Andress, Stanley Baker and David Warner, with Miss Andress doing a certain amount of buffing. In the story, Miss Andress is married to a showy but impoverished British lord, David Warner. Her need for funds brings her to the deputy manager of a bank, Baker, who is himself envied of the rich depositors. The two hit it off, with all that money so near, and with the Lordly hubby form a partnership in crime.

"GOING, GOING . . ." The bidding starts at 9:30 on Saturday at the Smith College Club's 23rd annual auction of such items as the framed mirror and painting held by Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian Jr. (left) and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding 3d. The day-long event at the Littlebrook School also includes magic shows for children.

IT'S NEW To Us

NEED A DISHWASHER?

Or An Exercise? A grand miscellany of this world's goods has been piled up by the Princeton Area Smith College Club for Saturday's auction at the Littlebrook School, Magnolia Lane.

Mrs. Thomas L. Matthews is chairman this year. Lester and Robert Slatoff, Trenton auctioneers, will start the bidding at 9:30 a.m. and continue through most of the day. The raffle prize is a seven-day Red Carpet vacation for two, or a color television set.

A wooden mantelpiece may be just what you need, and the Smith Club will auction off two of them. Also on the block are such varied items as an exercise, a kitchen table, cut glass dishes, a dozen demitasse cups, a dishwasher, ice skates, goblets, table silver, dessert plates, a sculptured pole lamp by Paul Evans, two old beds and a bathlinette.

The long distance item is a mat from Plymouth, England, commemorating the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, Mass.

On The Side, The Smith auction also features small gifts tables — one of them stocked with toys, puzzles and games for children. Merchants of the community have donated many new items for the auction and small gifts array.

For luncheon, the auction offers homemade shrimp salad, turkey and ham sandwiches.
Baked goods, doughnuts and coffee will be available throughout the day.

Auction-goers can park their youngsters at the magic shows to be given by young George Meyers of Bloomshury at 10:30, 12 and 1:30. Babysitting is a valuable from 9:30 to 2:30, and to soothe youthful appetites, there will be peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and hot dogs.

This is the 23rd consecutive.

CUT WOMEN'S HAIR?

Well, Na, Princeton Hair Styling for Men has moved in to new quarters at 326 Nassau Street, in the new Princeton Plaza, and is tending off the girls.

The unisex hairstyle these days is the shag cut, which the Princetonian does with particular skill. The feminine voices on the phone keep asking for appointments.

"We're under pressure to like the girls here," Michael Maryk says in something of a quandary. "There are also so many women who want their daughters to have haircuts like their sons."

"Definitely no!" is the way Mark Gushy, his brother and partner regards the matter.
His attitude is that the Princetonian is a sanctuary for men.
The new quarters for the Princetonian have a men's club look to them, with a big window on Nassau Street where you can watch the world huzz by. The shop is carpeted in deep orange, leather chair ed, with an accent of black and white drapes in an abs

WEDDINGS

Sloan-Murray. Miss Deborah L. Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Murray of Rocky River, O., to Hugh W. Sloan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Sloan of 73 Drake, Corner Road, February 21 - St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Lakewood, O.

The bride is a cum laude graduate of Connecticut College where she received a bachelor of arts degree in political science and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She also attended the Hotchkiss School, Aldenham School in Eshire, England, and was graduated with honors from Princeton University in 1963 with a degree in history. He is a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve and served in the Pacific before becoming a staff assistant to President Nixon. Sloan is also employed at the White House, as a member of Mrs. Nixon's staff. The couple will live in McLean, Va.

O'Donnell-Falzone. Miss Salvatore Falzone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Falzone of 100 Brunswick Pike, to George W. O'Donnell, son of Mr. Katherine Phea of Trenton, February 20 - St. Paul's Catholic Church.

The bride is a graduate of Princeton High School and Wilfred Academy of Beauty Culture. She is employed by Fox, Jones and Company. Her husband, an alumnus of Lawrence High School, is with C.S. Porcelain, Trenton. The couple will live in Trenton.

It's New To Us

tract point. There are several paintings on the wall and a good supply of magazines to read - although the Princetonian has a good track record for not keeping businesses waiting.

Still, the girls want to Want To Bet? The shop, out that pleases the girls so much is a fairly short and very natural in style. You can shake your head and the hair falls back in place. The way the Princetonian does it, there's no clear cutting line, and no way of telling that the hair is fresh is cut - and it is well into the fourth week before a trim is needed.

Since the avant garde hotels are beginning to phase out the old barber shops and beauty salons in favor of a unisex "service center," according to Michael Maryk, he's inclined to square away an afternoon a week for the girls. "Never," says Mark, and he laughs, so the odds are about even.

The Princetonian has pondered in this community to make men aware that they have options in haircuts. And with much success. It has an educational service that has ranged from talks before the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, Princeton University undergraduate clubs to Michael's son's second grade class at the Riverside School. A consulting service for firms interested in male hairstyling is now developing.

"When I spoke last week at my son's school," Michael Maryk says, "I didn't talk a bout styling, I talked about hair. I showed them samples of all kinds of hair - oriental caucasian, negro, the purpose is to appreciate the difference, but when the strands of hair are seen under a microscope there is no real difference, other than that the oriental is round as a circle - the others very fine.

He'd planned to give his son's teacher a shag haircut in front of the class but losing ed his mind, because her hair looked so like the way it was. Later, she asked why I'd changed my mind, and when I told her, she said, "Why, I was wearing a fall!"

Since the Princetonian has moved into greater involvement with stretch aids during the past year, Michael is an expert who had been fooled.

Discussing wigs, he notes, "Nothing can take the place of the longer is and reach of a hand crafted hairpiece."

Princetonian customers seem to have a misnomer, feeling about the shop, bringing in their son, their neighbors business acquaintances. A free testimonial came from a man who overheard Michael's discussion. A teacher of business, he volunteered, "I travel a lot in my work, and I can get three or four weeks and I don't look like I need a haircut."

What we do," Michael Maryk continues, "is functional hair styling. We find the natural pattern of a client's hair. We show him how to use and train it. Men still don't want to look as though they've just had a haircut. Razor cutting isn't an art."

The Princetonian works on half hour appointments, maintaining an admirable schedule. There's parking - and plenty of it, all free - in the rear of the Princeton Plaza.

OLYMPICS IN '72

Posters Now. The poster is a highly regarded art form, dating back to Toulouse Lautrec and the can-can girls, perhaps. The Europeans have devised it far beyond the sports and entertainment posters you see in this country.

As proof, take a look at the 1972 Olympics posters at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Arts at 7 Spring Street (Spring Street cuts into Whetstone Square half way between the Public Library and Nassau).

The Olympics posters are offset reproductions of original lithographs and serigraphs. The size is about 40" by 25" and there is a lot of variety.

The artist include Hans Arp of Germany, Jan Lenica, native of Poland, Cheri Laprique and Chaplain Midy of France.

Their work is full of swing and color, vitality and youth alluring, exciting, abstract, one of the coming game of Manages.

Topics Of The Town

Another girl, this one 16 years old, had dropped out of school. She had been a heavy user of LSD, amphetamines and heroin. One day she went along when a friend visited the 291 Witherspoon house, and she decided to ask for help for herself.

She was afraid her heavy use of drugs had caused brain damage and she was deeply depressed. The Project social worker arranged for psychological testing, which showed that the girl had a high working intelligence. The girl was reassured. She began coming for occasional treatment, and has now found — and held — a job and is planning to go back to school.

In a statistical tally, the report counts 62 different patients seen during a two-week period in January at the Project's 291 center; 43 were teens, 19 parents.

Of the 62, 10 came from various towns around Princeton, 52 from Borough and Township. Most (26 each) were referred by friends or school, 10 were referred by parents, the rest by ministers, doctors, police. Three came on their own.

The staff consists of a full-time psychologist (Robert Miller), a one-day-a-week psychiatrist (Dr. Shirley Van Gorp) and a co-ordinator social worker (Mrs. Mina Kempin). According to the report, the staff in response to increased demand has put in overtime on a volunteer basis because funds haven't been available.

Needed: $67,275. The Project had a budget last year of $60,907. This year, it is asking for $67,275. Funds ran out December 31, and the Child Guidance Center administrator, Domenico A. Colangelo, found temporary money to keep the program moving until allocations are received.

Last year, Princeton University and the Junior League of Trenton each gave $5,000. Both have withdrawn for 1971.

The United Fund allocation has been increased from $10,000 to $15,000 but Project officials expect they will have to defend that increase to fund budget committee members.

The Project has a $5,000 foundation grant, and is preparing projects to submit to state agencies, including the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency, for $5,920. The Project also expects around $500 in fees.

The 291 landlord receives $5,100 a year rent. If the house is regarded as "office space" (his works out to $3.83 per square foot, compared to the average Princeton office rental of $5 to $7.30), the Project coordinator says.

Professional salaries are estimated at $45,120, up from $33,466 this year. The increase is chiefly due to more staff time, but also to the fact that the Project didn't have a full staff all year in 1970.

Staff members say that because they are "neutral" — that is, neither school, police nor court — they can more easily get through to teenagers and parents than authorities can.

"We have been able to alleviate the fears of many parents who feel their children's drug abuse is unique," the report says. "That a single instance of drug experimentation is tantamount to addiction."

"We have also brought many parents to the hard realization that their children, not just other people's children, are drug abusers, and to begin to help them deal with the underlying problem of why?"

SEEK USE VARIANCE

For Oregon Studio. A historic mansion built in Princeton in the early 1850s may be torn down if the owners receive from the Borough Zoning Board a use variance they are seeking.

In the only case before the board Thursday evening in Borough Hall, Lila and Edmund Willis II, owners of the estate 62 Levers Lane, will announce plans to tear down "Guernsey Hall" and erect a new building containing a studio, in which their son would teach organ playing.

It is a permitted home occupation but the area devoted to it is limited by ordinance to 40% of the ground floor area or 400 square feet — whichever is less. The area for the proposed studio exceeds both.

"Guernsey Hall" was named by Prof. Allan Marquand of Princeton University, who lived there from 1885 until his death in 1924, after the Isle of Guernsey. The latter was the home of the Huguenot family of Marquand from which he was descended.

The large turreted stone dwelling is the major building on the Marquand Estate, much of which was later donated to the public as Marquand Park.

In a rubber-stamp request, Princeton Hospital will seek a six-month extension of the approval it received from the board six months ago to expand its emergency out-patient clinic.

SKILLMAN MAN KILLED

In Action in Vietnam, Hit by mortar fire while serving as a correspondent with the U.S. Army in South Vietnam, SP4 Stephen H. Warner of the Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, Skillman, died in a field hospital on February 14.

The 24-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Warner, he had been serving with combat troops on a number of missions and was riding with infantrymen in an armored personnel carrier when it was hit by a mortar shell near the Laotian border. He died a few hours after having been brought to the hospital.

A graduate of Princeton High School, Class of 1964, he attended Gettysburg College, graduating cum laude in 1968. A year at Yale Law School, he was drafted in June, 1969. Mr. Warner would have been eligible for return to the United States on March 21.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Miss Victoria Warner, a graduate student at Ithaca College in

NO SETTLEMENT YET

In Police Pay Dispute. The bill is back in the outcontrol of the court in the contest between Borough officials and police over police salaries for 1971.

Police negotiators met with Borough officials Tuesday morning. The next step is to present whatever agreements that may have been reached in that meeting for approval by the entire police department. Mayor Robert Cayley said that he hoped to have something to report later this week.

Police have reportedly agreed to a 6.5% increase in salary but are bogged down in areas involving overtime, number of days off and scheduling. Presently, a patrolman in top grade is paid $10,400 for a 12-hour week.

Any increases and benefits won by police are expected to be passed on to other Borough employees. Administrator Robert Moores reported that the salaries of other Borough employees would, for the first time, be tied in with the police settlement.

No Progress in Township. No movement has been reported in the Township, where police are asking for a flat $1,100 increase in all pay grades. They have turned down an offer of $800.

Spokesmen for both police departments said that they would make no further comments on negotiations until a settlement has been reached.

Recycling Drive Saturday Seeks Your Aluminum, Glass, Newspapers

Where To Find It

Collection point for aluminum, glass and newspapers on Saturday is the student parking lot at Princeton University, located off Faculty Road between Washington Road and the Peon Center. Tracks near Alexander Street.

From Faculty Road, which can be reached from either Alexander Street or Washington Road, turn in the University driveway by the school's shelter. The parking lot, haul away trucks and TV cameras will all be there on your right.

The parking lot to help unload. The Conservation Coalition asks that residents speed the unloading process by putting the aluminum nearest the door, so that it is the first thing to be taken out, then the glass, with the clear separated from the colored and last the newspapers tied into neat and manageable bundles.

The recycling program is not ready to handle "tin" cans. Some cans with tab openings and the word "aluminum" printed on top are bi-metal, not pure aluminum.

The recycling project is looking for aluminum cans, TV dinner and frozen food trays, cheese and roll containers, pots and pans, window sashes, garden furniture and similar aluminum items. Aluminum will not adhere to a magnet and aluminum cans do not have a side seam.

Labels may be left on the glass bottles and jars. However, all must be clean, with clear glass separated from colored. Lids and rings around the necks of screw top bottles should be removed.

In the event of pouring rain, cancellation of the program will be announced on Radio Station WWHK Saturday, March 6, is the rain date.

A second collection will be held from 9 until noon on Saturday, March 29.

were stolen last week from the home of Mrs. Anna Walter, 52 Arretton Road.

The theft was discovered by Mrs. Walter's daughter and son in law who had gone to the house and noticed the front door unlocked. Mrs. Walter had been away.

Pt. Olindo Carnevale investigated. He said that there was no sign of forced entry.

A bedroom at the home of James K. Varney, 56 Leabrook Lane, was ransacked between 1:15 and 8 p.m. on Sunday but, apparently nothing was taken.

Police report that a rear storm window and an interior window had been pried open to gain entry. Mrs. Varney notified police.

Five minutes after Mrs. Varney's call, police were notified by the desk officer that an alarm had sounded in the house of Charles Clairmont, 133 Philip Drive. Police found mid inside a study window and on a raz inside but a check of the house revealed that everything was intact.

Pt. marks were found around a window facing the street but the window was closed. Police believe the intruder was frightened off by the alarm.

WALLET STOLEN

From Bedroom Desk. Edward H. Stichter, 40 Wiggins Street, called Borough police last week to report that his wife's brown leather wallet containing $17 had been stolen.

Police report that the thief apparently stood on an object outside an open bedroom window, reached in and removed the wallet from a desk. Ptl. David Lewis and Ptl. Victor Fasanello investigated.

$44 Rack Stolen. Joseph Tel. 303 Ewing Street, reported the theft last week of a $30 ski rack from the trunk lid of his car. He told police it had been parked in the lot next to the First National Bank branch office, 270 Nassau Street.

"EDUCATION" IS TOPIC OF Adult School Lecture. The Princeton Adult School special lecture series on the "Counter-Culture" will have as its guest speaker on Thursday at 8 p.m. Dr. Marvin Bressler, Chairman of the Department of Sociology of Princeton University. His topic will be "Education."

At New York University, where he taught before coming to Princeton in 1963, Dr. Bressler was Chairman of the Department of Educational Sociology. He is the author of numerous books and monographs and co-director of a study completed recently entitled "Evaluation of the Effectiveness of Educational Systems." He is currently undertaking a research study sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education on student political movements in the 20th century.

In October, Dr. Bressler was named chairman of the 19-member Commission on the Future of the College. This group was to undertake a searching review of under-costs last week in Borough Court after he pleaded guilty to possession of lottery slips, a disorderly person charge. Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. imposed the fine.

The case of William Marshall, 21, 68 Clay Street, was sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office. Sanders has been charged with forgery after he allegedly wrote his mother's name on a check for $30 to pay a bill at Gale Dry Cleaners. Witherspoon and Spring Streets.

Three other charges involving the cashing of checks when Marshall had insufficient funds in the bank were dismissed for lack of prosecution. Police said the charges dated back a couple of years.

NIGHT SWIMMING?

Residents To Be Quizzed. To find out whether night swimming at the Community Park pools is something the majority of Princeton residents want or whether it would receive limited use, the Recreation Department plans to survey the community. Under Donald Barr, executive director of the Recreation Department, "If the community wants it, we all want it, too."

"The investment would be questionable if it were only going to receive limited use, we want to be sure before we go ahead," Mr. Barr added. He estimated the cost of installing the lighting at approximately $7,000. Underwater conduits for lights beneath the surface of the pool were installed when the pools were built. Overhead lighting would be minimal, Mr. Barr reported.

Operational costs of the lights would depend whether they were used seven days a week, for example, or just weekends. Extra staff would be needed for the longer hours. As a rough "estimate," Mr. Barr estimated such costs would add another $7,500.

The proposal survey would be designed and conducted by a professional firm. In the questionnaire, Mr. Barr said that the Recreation Department would also seek reactions to current programs sponsored by the department and information on other activities the community might like to see undertaken.

"Are we reaching into the community? Are there other things we could do?"

Coping To Be Replaced. Before the pool opens this spring, the recreation department hopes to have replaced the stone coping around the main pool.

Mr. Barr reported that the recreation board's monthly meeting last week that funds for the repair, estimated at $15,000 — are still available from the original swimming pool capital ordinance. One reason why the original stone coping deteriorated faster than expected, Mr. Barr explained, is that a reinforcing metal rod was placed near the top of the coping instead of the bottom.

Because problems have arisen with coping in the few other deck level pools built in the northeast the board is investigating the feasibility of using plastic coping. Costs of plastic versus stone are about equal.

"How are other pools handling the problem?" asked one board member. "They're all waiting to see what we're going to do," Mr. Barr replied. "They look to us as the pioneer."

CAR SKIDS IN RAIN

And This Another. A car skidded on rain-slicked Witherspoon Street Saturday night, went out of control and struck a parked car near the Community Park School.

The driver, Raymond M. Thout, 24, of Somerville was treated at Princeton Hospital for contusions of the hip, hand and forehead. The parked car was owned by Robert W. Sinkler, 307 Witherspoon. P.I. Robert Nielsen made no charges.

Palmina Lapins, 52, 33 Markham Road, was charged with

CASSETTE RETURNED
To Community Park School. A cassette recorder stolen Thursday from a teacher's car was found later in Community Park School where it belonged. Township police report.

Mrs. Barbara Boss, a teacher at the school, told police that she had left the cassette locked in her car in the school lot at 5 p.m. and when she returned about an hour later she noticed about 10 to 12 boys heading toward John Street. A front vent window had been forced and her car ransacked, she said.

School authorities later called police to report that the cassette, which belonged in the school library, had been found back in the school.

failing to yield the right of way, following a collision Friday on Harrison Street at Hawthorne Avenue.

Mrs. Lapins was taken in a patrol car to Princeton Hospital, where she was admitted for treatment of a back injury. (At Arthur Jackson reported).

Mrs. Lapins failed to yield to Mrs. Pater's 37 of Lakewood Apartments, in attempting to pull out into Hawthorne. The Patrol car left 12 feet of skid marks trying to avoid the collision.

SIX ARE FINED
In Township Court, John See, 19, 108 Exeter Street, among six persons fined last week in Township Court by Judge Burton Perkins.

See was fined $10 after he pleaded guilty to driving while on a revoked list. Gustav Eschler, 34, 25, 62 Wiggins Avenue, and Taylor A. McLean, 27, 121 Birch Avenue, paid $15 each for driving an unregistered car. Driving with a valid license also cost Brooks E. Echeverria, 31, 25 Brookstone Drive, $15.

Joe Pitman, 41, 70 Heather Lane, paid $26 for speeding 46 in a 25 mile zone, and Carlton Sander, 41, 11, Lehigh Avenue, was fined $15 for striding two sheets of plywood.

In Borough court Monday, Joseph K. Wright, 34, 117 Washington Road, was fined $15 by Judge Theodore T. Tans Jr. for careless driving.

Alfred Oppler, 78, 26 Horner Lane, paid $12 after pleading guilty to a stop sign violation.

CANDIDATES SPEAK
Offer Suggestions, Two candidates for the school board have offered concrete suggestions for the Princeton schools.

Mrs. Hannah Fox, Borough candidate, supports the proposal of Dr. Frank Soda for an experimental school within the high school and George A. Hill, Township candidate, has an alternative proposal for relocating high school overcrowding.

Mr. Hill suggests, possibly, a short term solution, reorganizing Princeton's system from a K-6, 6-8, 9-12 grade system to a K-6, 7-9 and 10-12 grade arrangement.

He estimates that this would reduce the high school's 712 population from 1,664 to 1,244, raise the Middle Schools from 992 to 1,608 (MS capacity is 1,100) and the elementary population from 1,871 to 2,187.

He estimated elementary capacity at 2,252, Mr. Hill says.

If the reorganization were temporary Mr. Hill sees a certain enhancement of the curriculum since sixth and ninth grade teachers would be more familiar with curriculum methods because there's that they are not.

Mrs. Fox cites Dr. Soda's proposed outline in a recent "Wednesday" program publication. Dr. Soda suggests that the community experimental school of 200-250 juniors and seniors, which would tap the resources of the community, allow more emphasis on individual and group work, provide more direct involvement of teaching and give more individualized instruction.

Dr. Soda proposes a school which would incorporate various classroom work, to avoid sessions, library work, independent study.

Mrs. Fox believes such a school could "stimulate students to new interest in the value of learning and halt the drift of drop-outs."

Mrs. Fox also says Administrative Council members needs are "hopeful. They do not require new outlays of capital, but rather provide ways for an economic and imaginative use of existing facilities.

RED CROSS AT HOME
Public Invited An Open House will be held this Sunday from 1:15 to 4:00 at the new headquarters of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross.

The new building is at 182 North Harrison Street.

Princeton's Red Cross chapter, which held its first meeting in 1918 and was founded in 1918 and has a charter signed by Woodrow Wilson, the national Red Cross head is always the President of the United States. In Princeton, the head of the Red Cross is traditionally the President of Princeton University, and President Robert F. Gabrey is its honorary chairman of the Princeton chapter.

Other officers are Peter Lorel, chairman; James Richmond, first vice chairman; Mrs. Alan Tredennick, second vice chairman; H. Lester Barlow, third vice chairman; Mrs. John G. Pontius, secretary; Alvin Davis, treasurer; and Walter Myers Jr., assistant treasurer.

HUN TO ADMIT COEDS
In Fall of '71, The undefeated Hun football team will have something else to boast about next fall, its own girl cheer leaders.

The Princeton preparatory school founded in 1913 will admit girls as day students in September, 1971. Headmaster Dr. Paul R. Chesebro said that between 25 and 50 would be admitted to the 43 acre Hun campus and would be concentrated in the two lower grades.

Dr. Chesebro added that he hoped the ratio would increase someday to 2 to 1. There are presently about 270 boys on campus, of which roughly half

Arrest Amplified
Last week, TOWN TOPICS reported that four young men and a juvenile girl allegedly used offensive language when Borough police stopped their car after it had gone through a stop sign.

Offensive language was used but only at police headquarters by the driver, Passengers Robert Bartolino, Frank Boccanfuso and George Fleming, all age 28, did not use offensive language at any time.

(10) are day students. The February 18 issue of the school paper "The Mail" headlined the good news: "Girls Ok'd for '71." It was the biggest type used by the paper in memory, commented G. Gerald Donaldson, administrative assistant. Dr. Chesebro reported that he wrote a personal letter to every student during the Christmas holiday asking if he was in favor of admitting girls. "Out of all the replies I received three boys didn't favor it," he said.

Impetus from Parents, The impetus to admit girls came from a focus last fall. Dr. Chesebro reintroduced a press conference from parents who were asking, "We have a daughter. When are you going to take girls in?" He added that there was also some pressure from the realization that Hun would no longer attract the best student if it did not admit girls. Asked if it were a trend in education, he said, "Yes. The trick is to get there first."

Hun thus joins Peddie and Blair in admitting girls. Lawrenceville considered it last winter but decided against it for the near future.

To accommodate girls, Dr. Chesebro said that a physical education instructor and a dean of girls would be added to the faculty which now numbers 24 full time instructors. They would be expected to conform to the same rules and regulations as the boys. "We think we offer a pretty good program here," said Dr. Chesebro. Tuition would be the same as boys: $2100. Boarding students pay $3000 a year.

Hun has established a reputation for a no nonsense approach in behavior and dress among its students. When Dr. Chesebro wrote parents asking if they approved of admitting girls and if as parents of a girl would they accept, "80% said yes to both questions," he said.

Then to back up his claim of interest, Dr. Chesebro produced three prospective coeds. One was Stacey Koppliner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Koppliner. Stacey admitted

Who Uses Library? Survey Starts This Week

Why do you use the Princeton Public Library and if you don't use it, why not? Broadly speaking, those are the questions 250 Princeton Borough and Township residents will be asked over the next eight weeks in a door to door survey.

The random sample includes only "evils" of 30th residence, a chance of being called are rather slim. However, the three young interviewers will start this weekend and the library hopes house-holders will welcome their questions.

The interview will last about 20 minutes. Teen-agers as well as adults will be invited to respond, but children won't be included.

How does your age, education and background affect the way you use the library? What services in the library do you use the most? What would you like to see added? These are the kinds of questions.

The survey is actually a work scholarship for one of the three students, and 80% of its approximately $600 cost is being financed through the Federal College Work Study Program. Under ted that she "liked the odds" and her father reported that the initiative to apply at Hun had come from her. Her brother was a fullback on the undefeated Hun team a year ago and now attends Missouri Valley.

Karen Margolis, 13, daughter of Mrs. Harold Margolis, Carter Road, has a brother, Robert, who is a senior at Hun. Janet Winegar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Winegar, 146 Gallup Road, has a brother, Jeffrey, who is a Hun senior. Both mentioned they would like to follow in their brothers' footsteps.

If Dr. Chesebro was feeling satisfied the way things were developing, he had good reason to. When he took over as headmaster in 1951, Hun had 75 students and was raised, the school was in danger of closing.

Twenty years later, its enrollment is up almost 400%.

CONSOLIDATE THE TRASH
Sewer Group Makes Suggestions
Princeton might inch closer to consolidation if the University graciously bowed out of the present image, the group that is the Sewer Operating Committee and left Borough and Township to keep house alone.

Foster Jacobs, chairman of the SOC, says the University would like to get out of the 39-year-old agreement. He made the suggestion at the SOC meeting last Thursday and colleagues Dean Chace (Township) and John Strange (Borough) agreed.

They also decided to change the SOC meeting date to the third Tuesday of each month, make it a public meeting (6 p.m. in Borough Hall, March 16), and double membership to six, two from each of the present three members.

As Mr. Jacobs sees it, the new Borough-Township group would branch out into snow removal, garbage collection, fixing sewer collector lines—in short, all the things municipal engineering departments now do. The University would become a paying customer, and so would other institutions, like schools and churches.

Borough Council has already agreed to investigate the proposal, Mr. Jacobs said this week. Mr. Chace and Mr. Strange will invite people to join them in the study. Mr. Jacobs hopes for a final and "prompt" report—possibly this spring.

LIBRARY POLL-TAKERS: One of these students may knock on your door to ask what you think about the Princeton Public Library. They are, left to right, Andrew Springour, Frederick Hayes and Charles Kinyon. Mr. Springour and Mr. Kinyon attend Princeton Seminary. Mr. Hayes is a student at Princeton University.

Federal requirements, the library itself is pay 20% about $175. The grant specifies that the students must work with a non-profit agency that benefits its community in which it is located.

Project director for the library is Rowland Bennett. Andrew Springour, Seminary student, is in charge working with Charles Kinyon of the Seminary and

REPUBLICAN?

You're Invited to Meeting
Township Republicans are invited to gather this Saturday morning in Township Hall to talk over names for next fall Township Committee candidates.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Sponsor is the Princeton Township Republican County Committee. Frank P. Reiche, the Township's Republican principal candidate, will preside.

"We want to involve as many Township Republicans as possible in the selection of candidates," said Mr. Reiche. Republicans who can't attend Saturday's meeting are invited to meet Mr. Reiche, District Committeemen and Committeewomen with the names of possible candidates.

Reply to Dr. Boyd. To the Editor of Town Topics: Dr. Julian Boyd has written a long letter to the local papers, in which he states that his historical society has been the history of the Princeton Battlefield State Park and his reasons why the Institute of Advanced Study should be permitted to build housing on the battlefield.

As Dr. Boyd's views on this subject are rather well known, I would be disinclined to respond to his letter were it not for his charging our organization and those working with it with emotionalism, flag-waving and worse to boot.

In the 1880's, the salt drink industry began by selling their product in returnable bottles. The 2 cent bottle deposit was established because it approximated the cost of producing a new bottle. The deposit system remained an economic profitable way of doing business as long as the number of trips remained relatively high.

Five years ago we were averaging 24.30 trips per bottle. Five years ago our trip rate was down to 4.00 trips per bottle. The same 2 cent deposit bottle had risen in cost to a dime. And, unfortunately, the rate of return in Princeton was the highest in all our territory.

Last year, Pepsi Cola in New York tried raising the deposit to 5 cents. Within four months they lost the entire 700,000 cases of glass bottles purchased for this experiment. Rhein gold had much the same experience in New Brunswick. What is apparent from these two examples is that as our society has become more aware of the value of the bottle, it has become less and less of an incentive to return the bottle.

For my company to go back to returnable bottles would cost over $500,000 to buy a new bottle washer, inspect machine and 300,000 cases and bottles. This figure is many more times than our net worth. We simply do not have this amount of money or the resources to get it.

If a local ban on one-way containers is passed in Princeton, we would simply not sell our products here. We would lose 12 percent of our sales volume. If the ban spreads to other communities, we would certainly go out of business. Under no circumstances would it be economic for us to go back to returnable bottles.

Solutions to the solid waste and litter problems which seek to ban non-returnable bottles. The salt drink industry are both anachronistic and discriminatory. One-way beer and soft drink bottles are counted for only 5 percent of municipal refuse. Other food packaging in glass and cans cost a much higher percentage of solid waste. Paper and paper products account for a staggering 73 percent of refuse.

The ultimate answer to this entire solid waste problem is recycling. This is "the in the sky" alternative. The technology is here right now. It is a much more efficient way to handle all the solid waste of Mercer County avoiding the necessity of burning, incineration and buying scarce and expensive landfill sites. This recycling can be done at a profit by the taxpayer and the environment. New Castle, Delaware is building a plant to recycle waste for February 27 should be supported by everyone in Princeton.

As I am as concerned as anyone about a wholesome environment. I want to protect my

Bus Problems Amplified.

To TOWN TOPICS I read with some dismay your paper's report that the Princeton Shopping Center demanded of Suburban Transit $1000 monthly for their use of its Center facilities for their buses and customer parking.
It is not a true statement and does it make any sense and I am very surprised that you did not take the time to check this up with my office.

We have not requested a subsidy from Suburban Transit and when Mr.
Fohn of Suburban was in this office it was left to him to offer in capital amount. He has since told us that there is not enough business here to warrant paying any rental.

We feel that we are justified in our request. All of our tenants are paying for their use of our facilities and the maintenance of our lots. Suburban Transit is not a government subsidized carrier and is under private ownership. It is a business concern as much as any business that serves this area and should be treated as such.

The statement of the Center regrets the inconvenience caused by the loss of Suburban Transit's service but we will not accept the full responsibility for the present situation.

Mr. Joseph Nini, Township Administrator has made the kind offer to aid in this matter and I hope that it will be satisfactory to everyone's satisfaction in the near future.
VIRGINIA B. GIEBEL
Resident Manager
Princeton Shopping Center

Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS regrets that a late Tuesday night Township Committee meeting at which the long question was discussed plus an early Wednesday deadline precluded a check with Mrs. Giebel.

According to Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, the $1000 figure was apparently mentioned as a kind of joke by Shopping Center management (not Mrs. Giebel). Not realizing that the figure was not a joke, request representatives of Suburban Transit reported it back to the bus company's management and its attorneys McCarthy, Basick and Hicks.

The Shopping Center had informed Suburban in January that the Center wanted a rental fee. Bus service would have to stop by February 5 if no agreement could be reached Center officials stated.

Mr. Hicks said this week that Suburban was originally invited into the Center by previous Center managers, and

In TOWN TOPICS last week, Alfred Kahn addressed an opin reply to remarks which he declared referred to the man-made at the YWCA Forum on Racism held earlier this month, did not identify Ben-

AUTO LOAN RATES IN THE AREA.

Friendliness at Princeton's First goes more than smile deep. It goes all the way to our pocketbook. To illustrate the point, we've just lowered our interest rate on new car loans.

Frankly, we didn't lower the rate just to prove we're nice people. We did it because we'd like to have your business. Perhaps that's why we smile so much. People have been bringing us their banking business for more than three-quarters of a century.
That's enough to make even a banker smile.

Stop in at any office. We can arrange your car loan

Is Your Complaint Justified? Consumer Bureau Will Decide

Your 14-year-old bought a pair of pottery mugs — one handle was broken when she got home. Is the store at fault for careless wrapping? Was the garage that repaired your car justified in charging as much as it did? Was your jacket ripped when you took it to the cleaners, or did the cleaner rip it?

Consumers, increasingly, are becoming aware of their relations with business firms. In Princeton, perhaps the most visible consumers' group is the four-year-old Consumer Bureau which has a registered list of about 1,400 business firms and stores in the Princeton area, and recently added another 2100 in the vicinity of Haddonfield.

The Bureau was started by Joseph Boyd, who runs the Princeton Community Phone Book. "The phone book is my livelihood, the Consumer Bureau is my hobby," is the way Mr. Boyd explains it.

Now Non-Profit. He incorporated the CB in 1967 as an ordinary business corporation but in August, 1968, filed with the state two charter amendments which, Mr. Boyd has been told, allow him to call the CB a "non-profit corporation." He amended his original charter when it appeared to him that the CB could support itself as an independent consumer organization. Mr. Boyd himself takes a "dollar-a-year" salary.

Firms registered with CB must be recommended by customers — a firm can't apply for membership. There is no charge to the firm for listing on the CB register.

Businesses that want to use the Consumer Bureau sign on their trucks, in shop windows or in advertising pay $40 a year. There are about 360 of these firms. Approximately 100-150 firms participate in the weekly CB advertisement in TOWN TOPICS, and pay depending on how much space they take. A business must be already registered with CB to become part of that ad.

A consumer who wants to know if a store is registered must ask the store or business for its CB registration number, then call the CB answering service to see whether the shop is still registered. If it has been removed, CB will tell the consumer so, but CB will never reveal why the business has been removed. A Keystone of the Bureau is a "Good Neighbor Panel" composed of volunteers interested in consumer questions. Any number can join and in fact, Mr. Boyd would like more so that CB could have various sub-committees such as one on Business Standards for example.

Semi-Monthly Meetings. The volunteer panel meets twice a month to pass on complaints made to the CB by consumers. Nobody on the panel ever knows the name of the business firm or the name of the complainant. The only person who knows is Mrs. William Sutphin, the part-time paid CB staff member who talks with consumers and firms and handles complaints.

At the most recent meeting, held last Thursday, the panel disposed of six cases — only two of them in favor of the consumer. Those two, incidentally, were auto repair cases. A high percentage of CB complaints concern automobile repair.

In its four years, CB has received 787 complaints. Around 550 are known to have been settled to the consumer's satisfaction. About 30 have resulted in elimination of a firm from the CB register. (Figures are not precise because they include Haddonfield tallies; however, the south Jersey operation is still new, so that most complaints in the figures concern the Princeton area.) Between the 30 and the 550 are unsubstantiated cases or those involving non-CB members.

Careful Study Made. The panel hears a detailed explanation of a case from Mrs. Sutphin, and discussion follows. Sometimes Mrs. Sutphin is asked to obtain more information. Sometimes a vote is delayed for several sessions because the panel members want more time.

Sometimes the vote is quick. Regarding the 14-year-old with her broken mugs, for example, the panel quickly decided that the consumer (in this instance, her mother) didn't have a case.

Repair complaints often require a Solomon. An invaluable aid is a document called the Chilton Manual, which is a guide to the number of hours any automotive repair job should take. In repair cost complaints — and indeed in others involving charges — Mrs. Sutphin makes calls around the area to find out what other firms charge for the same work. Frequently, the consumers' panel will decide the consumer was billed a fair amount.

Warranties are tricky problems, too. One firm was charged with misleading advertising. The store, CB's volunteers found out, was a franchised dealer for a product but was not authorized in warranty to service the product and collect from the manufacturer.

It did, however, give its own warranty for what it sold out of its own stock. These items were serviced free of charge. Here again, CB felt that the customer didn't have a case.

Three-Month Suspension. One automobile repairman was suspended from the CB list for three months because a car's

Bridge Limit Halved

Mercer County highway officials have found it necessary to reduce the weight limit on the lower Alexander Road Bridge from 10 tons to five.

Township Police Chief Frederick Porter reports that signs announcing the reduction and the speed limit of 25 miles per hour have been posted and will be enforced. Buses and large trucks will be the only vehicles affected, he said.

NURSERY TO BENEFIT
From Skating Carnival. An ice carnival, "Salute to the United Nations," will be held by the Princeton Skating Club on Friday, March 19, and Saturday, March 20, at Baker Rink to benefit the proposed expansion program of Princeton Nursery School.

The ice carnival is sanctioned by the United States Figure Skating association. There will be competitive American skaters making guest appearances.

Princeton Nursery School, 78 Leigh Avenue, was organized in 1929 to provide care for 40 children from 7:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. five days a week. In order to meet the needs of the working mothers of the community, the 24-member volunteer board of trustees has given top priority to an expansion program. Currently, Family Service case worker interviews each applicant's family and only those who need the care most are accepted from the long list.

Four-fifths of the school's budget is met by the Princeton Area United Community Fund. The balance comes from tuitions, based upon ability to pay. Miss Evangeline Miller has served as school director since 1936. Staff members assisting her include Mrs. Robert Bosley and Mrs. Roger Keller, teachers; Mrs. Frank Craven and Mrs. Diane Gray, part-time teachers; Mrs. Peter Vezquez, cook, and Robert Bosley, custodian. During Mrs. Vazquez's two-month leave of absence, Mrs. Arthur Douglas and Mrs. Louis DiMassa are replacing her.

Students from Trenton State Teachers College serve at the school as part of their practice teaching. Girls from Princeton High School, Stuart Country Day, Community Park and Princeton Day Schools take part in the program as volunteers. Among the children attending the school have been five blind youngsters, two with cerebral palsy and a diabetic.

Princeton Skating Club is seeking patrons for the ice carnival. Checks in the amount of $6 may be sent to Mrs. Moore Gates Jr., 96 Hun Road. Patrons will have seat preference on a first come, first served basis.

LIBRARY SETS DISPLAY
Of Vocational Materials. The Princeton Public Library is currently featuring a display of some of its new vocational materials.

The library received a generous gift last year to be used for these materials and it now has a comprehensive collection of books and pamphlets pertaining to careers and vocations.

The most unusual source of career information is the "Career File." This file consists of one card descriptions of hundreds of careers and in most cases corresponding cards listing all schools offering degrees and diplomas in these fields.

Another new service this year the "Passbooks" containing actual past civil service examinations. Also available are books to aid in exam preparation for certain jobs, and a great many books describing specific occupations.

The library hopes that these new career and vocational materials will be valuable not only to young people looking for a career but also to adults in search of a new career.

Cleveland Orchestra Still Reflects Touch of Late George Szell

During his distinguished musical career, George Szell was considered by the many who knew him to be perceptive, lyrical, witty, humorous, charming or unyielding. These paradoxes not with standing, Maestro Szell was also one of the three most brilliant conductors of his generation, and perhaps of our century.

He left his legacy in the organization of the Cleveland Orchestra that today ranks as the most perfect large musical ensemble in the United States an opinion shared by most music lovers and musicians. Last summer, George Szell suddenly passed away. The Cleveland Orchestra has been without a permanent conductor since.

This past Wednesday evening, the orchestra returned to McCarter Theatre under the direction of the young conductor George Semkow, and presented a concert program which included the "Musique Funebre" for String Orchestra by Witold Lutoslawski; Mozart's "Symphony No. 3" in Bb Major, K. 39 and the "Summer, George Szell and his orchestra, Op. 29 by Scriabin. The program itself left much to be desired. The Lutoslawski Funeral Music is not representative of the music one has come to expect from Poland's senior avant garde master.

The music was sparsely written with unison rhythms for the most part based on a serialized row of fourths or fifths with exposed tritone intervals relationships at climactic points in the music. The piece, dating from 1956-58, is simply dull, despite the hint of occasional interesting sonority. Its main failure is its rhythm which is syntactically weak, and despite a clean, crisp sounding reading by the Clevelanders, the music really never got off the ground.

The Mozart 18th symphony is not one of his better ones. It is still Mozart and some lovely music is always periodically with us throughout the four movements. Somehow, Mr. Semkow failed to deliver a light, sparkling performance with this score. The music seemed ponderous and dry.

Scriabin's Symphony No. 3, dated from the year 1911, is rich in orchestral color while being conceived in a post-Wagnerian chromaticism that is his best approach to Richard Strauss at his worst.

Many of the program's problems in on the music producing dramatic cadences at

MUSIC

In Princeton

ter chromatic sequences which appear to defeat the purpose of chromaticism. The music attempts at expansion of a harmonic sequence of events, only to contract suddenly into a simple obvious chord progression that immediately nullifies whatever impression the piece was trying to create at that point.

This is not to say that the symphony does not have its captivating moments. The central movement of the five, was indeed the most effective with many beautiful colors. Here one could not help recalling at times "The Good Friday Music" from Wagner's "Parsifal."

Scriabin was an adherent of Eastern mysticism in the last dozen years of his life. This writer is not certain whether this second symphony, written before the harmonic innovations associated with Scriabin's name, reflects the composer's interest in Eastern theosophical thought.

It is still too rooted in German 19th century chromaticism to suggest this an access ional use of the augmented fifth chord used in an unpredictable manner for its time. Shows the composer moving away ever so slightly from the influences that formed his early compositional career.

The composer was born in 1872 and died at the height of his career while on tour in 1915; the cause blood poisoning resulting from an abscess of the hip. He had a vast following at this time and was heralded as a musical prophet who would walk with Bach and Beethoven as the super star of the musical universe.

Values Change. Obviously time and his music have proved the earlier critics wrong. Scriabin sounds today closer to Rachmanninoff (especially the latter's Second Symphony) than to his contemporaries of his generation, Ravel, Stravinsky and Schoenberg. However, in this day where eclecticism appears to be returning at a rapid rate, it is not unthinkable to suggest that a revival of Scriabin's output may well be in the cards.

The Clevelanders played this voluptuous musical canvas splendidly, emitting every nuance, turn of phrase and shade of the composer's will. The balance was, as always, one of the remarkable wonders of the Cleveland orchestra's playing, a tribute of course, to its late conductor, but also to the fine musicians

DUO TO PERFORM

In Series II Concert, Jean Pierre Rampal, flutist and Robert Veyron Lacroix, harpsichordist, will give the third concert in Series II of the Princeton University Concerts at 8:30 p.m. Monday at McCarter Theatre.

Jean Pierre Rampal is considered by many to be the leading flutist of today. Yet his decision to become a flutist was not made until he was in his twenties. He went to Paris and attended classes at the National Conservatory. He left the Conservatory five months later with the first prize for flute playing.

In 1946 he signed up for his first concert tour; the same year marked the beginning of his close association with harpsichordist Robert Veyron Lacroix. Mr. Rampal has since performed as soloist and chamber musician throughout Europe, including all major festivals, and toured all over America and the rest of the world.

Robert Veyron Lacroix was born in Paris and revealed unusual musical talent at a very early age. He, too, studied at the National Conservatory where he became proficient in a number of instruments; he chose the harpsichord with piano second in line. He has performed all over the continent, in recital.

MARCH 5 CONCERT SET

By University Orchestra.
The Princeton University Orchestra will present its next concert at 8:30 p.m. Friday March 5, in Alexander Hall.
The conductor of the Orchestra for this semester is Paul Lamky, a composer on the faculty of the Music Department.

Assistant Conductor of the Orchestra is University senior Gilbert Levine. Mr. Levine was the artistic director and conductor of the highly successful production of Mozart's opera "Abduction from the Seraglio" at Theatre Intime in December.

Program for the concert will be the Overture to "La Clemenza di Tito" by Mozart, Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 and "Poeme" for Violin and Orchestra by Chausson. Soloist for the Chausson piece will be Philippe Dookie, winner of this year's Concerto Competition and Concertmaster of the University Orchestra. Mr. Dookie, a resident of Trenton, is a scholarship award student at the Juilliard School of Music under Ivan Galamian.

Sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, the concert is open to the public admission free.

CHOIRS TO COMBINE

For Joint Concert, Masses by Haydn and Mozart, and Church Sonatas for Harpsichord and Orchestra will be performed by the combined Adult Choirs of Trinity and All Saints' Churches at All Saints' Church, at 7:30 p.m.
this Sunday.

Mozart's "Coronation" Mass and Haydn's "St. Nicholas" Mass will be the major works to be performed by the 65 voice choir and full orchestra during this second program of the All Saints' Trinity Concert Series.

Solists include Lucie Form walt and Shirley Kinsley, sopranos; Louise Pritchard and Connie Fee, contraltos;
Timothy Sitz and John Mc-Lain, tenors and Falou She-hadi, baritone. Joseph Kovacs will be the concertmas-ter of the orchestra.

The Haydn Mass will be conducted by All Saints' organist and choirmaster, David Keller, and James Lefton, organist and choirmaster of Trinity, will conduct the Mozart work. All Saints' new concert harpsichord will be the featured solo instrument in four of Mozart's Church Sonatas for keyboard instrument and string orchestra.

Dr. Lee H. Bristol, Jr. and Mr. William Flemer have been the chairmen of a joint committee from All Saints and Trinity which planned the Haydn, Mozart Concert as a part of the four program series of concerts.

GLEE CLUBS TO SING

Joint Concert Planned. Compositions by Monteverdi, Britten, Bach and Verdi will be presented this Sunday at 8:30 p.m., in Alexander Hall by the Princeton University Glee Club and the Chatham College Choir.

Tickets are on sale at the University Store and will be available at Alexander Hall before the concert. Reserved seats are $2.50 and general admission $1.75.

The two singing groups will join in the Monteverdi "Magnificat a sei voci" and in Verdi's "Pater Noster." The Chatham Choir alone will present the Benjamin Britten, John Brevin and the Princeton University Glee Club will perform the Bach Cantata No. 78, "Jesu der du meine Seele," accompanied by a small orchestra composed of strings, fluetes and organ. John Bogart will be bass soloist.
Lorenzo Malfatti is director of the Chatham College Choir.
Walter Nollner is conductor of the Princeton University Glee Club.

Ranulph Bye

ART DEMONSTRATION SET
By Ranulph Bye. The Princeton Art Association is sponsoring a water color demonstration by Ranulph Bye, well known AWS artist. Mr. Bye will demonstrate his water color technique at the Princeton Public Library on Wednesday, March 3, at 8 p.m.

Born in Princeton in 1916,
Mr. Bye has lived in Bucks County ever since his father moved there from Swarthmore in 1931. He is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Art and was a student at the Art Students League where he attended the classes of Frank Y. Dumond and William C. Palmer.

Mr. Bye's main interest over the years has been painting in water color and occasionally in oils and he has contributed a number of articles and illustrations on the watercolor medium in recent publications, such as "100 Watercolor Techniques" and "Fundamentals of Watercolor Painting." His work has also appeared in American Heritage, and numerous calendars and Christmas cards.

Presently associate professor at the Moore College of Art, Philadelphia, Mr. Bye is represented in the collection of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston Museum, Williams Proctor Institute, Uti-

ALL IN THE FAMILY
At Heins Exhibit, Paintings by Harold H. Heins, father and son, will be on view during March at the Present Day Club, 72 Stockton Street. The exhibit opens Tuesday.

Mr. Heins senior is chiefly a portraitist, working in watercolor and oil. His son, using the same media, concentrates on landscapes and marine paintings. Both of the realism school. They frequently sketch and paint together, enjoying trips to Maine, Cape Cod and the Eastern Shores.

Retired after a 41 year career in engineering, H. H.
Heins Sr. began painting as a youth in Minnesota. A number of his works are hanging in the Princeton area. He prefers to do portraits in watercolor to obtain crispness. The show will include recent works pained in England and on a sking trip to Austria.

H. H. Heins Jr. ("Biff"), studied at the Art Students League and is currently working with Jack Garver of Lawrenceville. He has won awards including best of show at the Union County annual Trails show, the South Sonerville Guild show. He is a member of several art groups including the Rehoboth (Del.) Art League, where he has also been the recipient of awards.

Studio in Belle Mead. A good colorist, his paintings are fresh and crisp, with oils frequently done in palette knife style. His studio is in the Pine Brook area of Belle Mead, and his father lives near Blawenburg.

This is the second invitation the Heinses have received to show at the Present Day Club.
The previous exhibit was a bout three years ago. Visitors are welcome at the show. Mrs.
Kenneth L. Maxwell, art chairman, asks that visitors call the club, 921 4104, before stopping by.

PAINTINGS ON DISPLAY
By Elaine Ellerstein. The Trenton YWCA is currently exhibiting watercolors by Elaine Ellerstein of Princeton through this month.

Mrs. Ellerstein's paintings have been in exhibitions and one-man shows in this state as well as New York and Pennsylvania. She is also represented by galleries in these three states, including the Golden Door in New Hope. She was awarded a first prize in a show here two years ago.

A graduate of Hunter College in New York, Mrs. Ellerstein studied painting in New York and Providence.

HOME SEASON TO END
For Tiger Basketball Team
 Proud possessor of a five-game winning streak and atop the 500 mark for the first time this season, Princeton's basketball team will bring its home schedule to a close this weekend. Yale Friday and Brown Saturday are in the Jadwin Gym schedule picture. The Tigers take a final road trip a week later to Columbia and Cornell.

With good play on their part and a bit of good fortune in results elsewhere, they might possibly finish in a three-way tie for runner-up honors in the Ivy League. Since they have a game left with Columbia, and the Lions must also play Penn, a sweep of their remaining four games would in any event assure them of third place.

Despite the presence of a couple of high scoring players, (Captain Jim Morgan is averaging 22 points a game and Mike McLaren is around 19), elite is experiencing one of its worst seasons. The Elis are 3-17 and appear destined to share the cellar with Cornell, to which they lost last week at Ithaca for the Red's first Ivy victory this winter.

Brown has been sliding downhill after a strong start and has won only one of its last five. Arnold Berman, 6'7" and Ross Tyler, 6'3", are the Bruins' top point-men, ranking among the first ten in Ivy

AI, DUFFY AT WORK: Starting both games last week in place of the injured Bill Drake, Junior Al Duffy scored 10 points against both Dartmouth and Harvard, doubling his game average and rebounding well. That's what he's doing here in game which saw Tigers stand off Crimson surge to win, 76-74.

scoring with respective game field goal, all Bird had to do after aces around 21 and 19. A was hold the ball for the full fortnight ago, the Tigers handled both these teams easily on the road and concentration on the job at hand will produce similar results here.

Shooting Percentages High. In defeating Dartmouth (97-81) and Harvard (76-74) last weekend, the Tigers produced their best back to back floor shooting averages of the year. In a one sided triumph over the Indians, they hit on 53% of their shots even though every reserve player saw action.

In a last-ditch drama with Harvard, the Orange and Black made a fine 59% of its field goal attempts to a mediocre 39% for the Crimson. Such superiority was absolutely essential to victory when the visitors outrebanded Princeton so completely that they were able to take 74 shots to 51 for the home team.

Taking virtually complete control as the first half progressed, the Tigers had their attack working beautifully as they pulled away from an 18-15 advantage at the mid-way mark to a 44-27 lead when the period ended. Frequent penetration of the Harvard defense with driving layups by Brian Taylor, Al Duffy and Ted Manakos highlighted the scoring. Five baskets in the first three minutes after play resumed while Princeton was held to a pair of free throws gave Harvard visible momentum. Coupled with that, the Tigers got into foul trouble early, putting the visitors in a one-and-one situation with 12 minutes left. What's more, Princeton switched out of man to man to an unfamiliar zone and all these factors combined to give a good Harvard team the ability to erase its 17 point half time deficit completely.

Crimson Draws Even. With three minutes left, a layup by Jean Wilkinson of the Crimson tied the score at 57-all. Harvard never managed to gain the lead, but its two fine sophomores, Jim Brown and Floyd Lewis, combined for seven points in the remaining time to take the action down to the final buzzer.

It could be that the final five seconds taught the Tigers what to do should a similar situation prevail in the future. At 19:55, Lewis hit on a jumper. After holding the ball until only one second remained, Reg Bird stepped onto the court before passing to Bill Siedler and the ball was awarded to Harvard.

A desperate side-court jumper by Brown overhauled the basket by a foot, but his chance to tie was unnecessary. With the clock running after Lewis' game and sitting out the NYU contest, he now has 438 points, a pace which will make him the only Princeton player beside Bill Bradley to top 1,000 before the end of this junior year.

Although the half-time score against Dartmouth was 85-21, the Blue and White led by as much as 16 in the opening period and by as many as 24 in the second. Mullen led Taylor for a change, 27 to 26, while Duffy, starting in place of the injured Bill Daake, was in double figures with 10. Daake sat out both games with a pinched cartilage in his knee but may return this weekend.

SKATERS FADE AGAIN

Lead Yale but Then Lose, 8-5. At the end of the season at New Haven Saturday, Princeton's hockey team had, again, one of its goals coming while it was a shot short. As late as 13 minutes into the second period, the Tigers were still very much in the ball game with the score even at 2-2.

In the next six minutes, however, the Elis turned on the light four times to go ahead, 6-2, and by the time it was over, the final score was 8-5. Greg Luck of the victors got the hat trick and Greg Rivet set a Yale record with five assists. Having earned their first shutout in ten years against the Tigers earlier this month, the Elis were particularly sorry to see them leave town.

In a game against Penn at Philadelphia earlier in the week, five goals cascaded in in the nets during the space of four minutes in the first period, but when four of them were credited to the Quakers, the outcome was determined even more rapidly than normal. Beginning at 18-16, Penn scored twice in short order, forward John McLean got what proved to be the only Princeton goal of the evening and the victors promptly added two more.

Action tapered off thereafter, with the Tigers again finding it difficult to play anything close to 60 minutes of hockey.

losing 7 to 1. Penn meanwhile closed in on a first division berth in the Ivy League and a probable spot among the eight teams chosen for the consolation playoffs in the NCAA tournament next month.

Harvard was on the schedule in Baker Rink Wednesday at Cornell at Ithaca Saturday, a week off and then Dartmouth comes here to end the season Saturday night, March 6. No one, repeat, no one, will be sorry.

IVY TITLE AT STAKE

Wrestling Match Saturday. Ability to defeat Yale in wrestling Saturday will give Princeton the Ivy League championship in the sport. The contest, in which the Tigers are favored, will begin at 2:30 in Jadwin Gym.

Coach Johnny Johnston's team remained undefeated in Ivy action last week when it came home from Cambridge with a 22-to-12 victory over Harvard. The Tigers won six of ten bouts, including unexpected decisions credited to sophomores Bob Grosse in the 150-lb. class and Steve Curtis, wrestling for the injured Emil Deliere at 190. Heavyweight Chuck Dreese pinned another opponent to remain unbeaten this season.

HUNTERDON TOO STRONG

For PHS Matman As expected, the visiting Red Devils from Hunterdon Central made things plenty hot for the Princeton High School wrestling team last week, sweeping the first ten matches for a 35-6 win.

All that is left now for the Little Tigers, who have been licking the wounds imposed by losing their last five in a row, are the district matches. They will be held March 5-6 at Notre Dame High School.

Andy Foltiny, Howie Heitner and Pete Hague suffered pins, as North Hunterdon methodically mowed down the game, but outclassed PHS squad, making its final home appearance of the season. The last two wrestlers for PHS, Lawrence Parker and heavyweight Lou John Rossi both won decisions, however, to break Hunterdon's string.

Rossi defeated Rich Cleaves, 4-2, and although the bout was a show-moving affair, Rossi showed that he will be some one to contend with in the district matches.

But the high spot for the sizeable hometown fans was Parker's performance in the 173-pound match. An up-and-down wrestler, Parker was in stunning form. He tore after Pete Madelena as if he were a piece of raw meat. Throughout the match he disdained caution and tried for a pin which is name of the game.

He didn't get it, but he did walk off the mat with a lopsided 11-2 decision. And he forced one to conjecture: If he wrestled this well every time, how far could he go?

END IN SIGHT

For Beleaguered PHS Five. When a team in a row won't go over 20, there's not much it can look forward to except the end of the season.

For the Princeton High School basketball team, which was buried 88 to 44 by Hamilton in its last start, relief is just three games away Friday evening, the Blue and White will be at Mendham, a new comer to the schedule.

Tuesday evening, coach will play on the Lawrenceville rink at 4 p.m., the other two at PDS at the same time.

The consolation match will be played at 10 a.m. Saturday and the championship contest at 1 p.m. Both games will be at PHS.

In regular season games, the three prep school rivals are just about even. PHS has a 1-1 record.

For PHS, Bill Evers led all scorers with 20 points. The 29 scorers with 20 points. The 29 scorers with 20 points. The 29 scorers with 20 points.

PDS TOURNEY TO BEGIN Four Teams to Compete. The championship of the first Princeton Day School Invitational Hockey tournament is up for grabs this weekend, with any one of the four teams entered having a good opportunity to capture it.

Hill, Lawrenceville and the Hershey Bears will join the Panthers in the two day event.

with PDS and Hill and Lawrenceville and Hershey squaring off in the first round Friday afternoon. PDS and Hill will play on the Lawrenceville rink at 4 p.m., the other two at PDS at the same time.

The consolation match will be played at 10 a.m. Saturday and the championship contest at 1 p.m. Both games will be at PHS.

his contests, with both Hill and Lawrenceville. The Larrens tied Hill the first time around and beat it to the second. Her they has lost to both Hill and Lawrenceville, and has not played PDS.

In preparation for the tournament, PDS blanked Lawrenceville, 4-0, led by the brilliant goaltending of goalie Tom O'Connor. Fresh from a 5-1 triumph over the Army Picters, Lawrenceville fired everything it had at O'Connor in the first five periods, all to no avail. Time and time again O'Connor kept PDS in the game with superb saves, stopping 16 shots alone in the first period. Hit with four penalties in the second period, PDS still could not mount much of an attack. O'Connor held up under the relentless attack, making some fantastic stops on some Lawrenceville breakaways. His two period save total was 27.

Finally in the third period, Lawrenceville tired and his heartened began to fade. PDS began to take charge and at 7-05, Art Mitnarch scored from the crease to break the deadlock. That opened it all up. Within a two minute span, PDS scored three more goals. John Moore put in the second on a fine shot from the corner on an almost impossible angle. Rob Helt shipped home number three on a pass from John Mitnarch and Paul Fank put it in on the cake scoring on a near perfect two-on-one situation. PDS then played a tight defense until the end to help give O'Connor his fourth and most glamorous shoutout of the season. PDS's record now stands at 7-6.

BENEFIT GAME PLANNED
For United Fund. A special basketball game between members of the New York Jets and faculty members from schools in the area was scheduled to be played this Wednesday evening at 8 in the Hun School gym. All proceeds are for the United Fund.

Faculty players from Hun include Dave Leece, Hun basketball coach; Whit Rudder, Terry Beach, Norman Cuban, Jim Ryer, Tom Logan, Charles Carter and Sam Bacon. Also, Larry Ivan, Princeton High School; John Ivers, Princeton Day School; Philip Divall, Lawrenceville and John Biddiscombe, Pennington.

Among the Jets listed as planning to be on hand for the contest were Emerson Bower, Mike Battle, Ralph Baker, John Dockery, Chuck Metcalf, Dave Foley, Randy Rasmussen and George Sauer.

JADWIN GYM IS SITE
Of Women's Squash Championship. The United States Women's Squash Racquets Singles Championship will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Jadwin Gymnasium. Thirty-two entries from the U.S. and Canada have been received for the singles championship which will start Friday morning at 10. Compelling from Princeton are Miss Virginia Minor, Mrs. William H. Tegar, Mrs. David L. Frothingham and the number three seed, Mrs. Jerome P. Webster Jr.

Semi-final matches will be held Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 with the championship final set for Sunday at 11 a.m. The consolation final will start an hour earlier.

In addition to the consolation final, an invitational doubles event will run concurrently with the singles. Sixteen doubles teams have entered. From Princeton are Mrs. W. Pepper Constable, the only player to win the national title five times and Mrs. Stephen Stockton; Mrs. Hallett Johnson and Mrs. Forthingham; Mrs. Martin Katz and Mrs. Douglas Corlette; Mrs. Webster and Miss Minor; and Mrs. Newell B. Woodworth, whose partner is Mrs. Talarina Balasis of East Lansing, Mich.

Doubles play will start Friday at 1 p.m. The doubles final will be at 12 noon Sunday. Squash facilities at Jadwin are among the finest in the nation. There are 12 singles and one double court. The two exhibition courts have a seating capacity of 350. Aside from those reserved for patrons, remaining seats are open to the public without charge.

PDS FIVE SPLITS AGAIN
Perkiamas Next. The Princeton Day basketball team won another close one last week, avenging an earlier loss to Bryn Athyn, but found itself no match for a powerful Rutgers Prep squad after the first quarter.

Friday the Panthers will be at home to take on a fair Perkiamas team at 3:15 p.m. and next Wednesday they will match out their regular schedule against Friends Central, also at home. PDS nipped Friends 50-48 in their first meeting.

Whether PDS's season will continue depends on the outcome of a Wednesday afternoon game this week against Pennington Prep, the opening round of the New Jersey Independent Schools Tournament for Group "B" schools. The contest between the two was scheduled for 3:30 Wednesday at Lawrenceville School. Pennington squeaked out a 55-54 decision over the Blue and White three weeks ago on a last second shot, after the Panthers had dissipated a 12-point lead.

Last Friday PDS stayed with Rutgers Prep through the first eight minutes of play, and trailed by only 23-21. However, within another eight minutes, the winners had built their lead. —Continued On Page 32

It comes in three economy sizes.

These are just some of the sizes Volkswagens come in. Regular, large and giant economy size.

Regular, you know. It's the familiar beetle.

Large is our Squareback sedan. It holds more than the largest trunk of the largest sedan.

Giant economy size is our big bus-like box. It holds nearly twice as much as the average station wagon.

And all three VWs do everything you expect a Volkswagen to do.

They have air-cooled engines (in the rear, of course). So there's no water to boil over or freeze up. And no need for antifreeze.

And they're easy on gasoline. The bug and the Squareback average about 26 miles on a gallon. The box about 23.

So you see, no matter what size you make Volkswagens, they're all economical.

Why not come in and size one up?

NEW SHOP TO OPEN

With Scandinavian Theme, Nordcraft, established to bring its customers the design and craftsmanship of Scandinavia, will open at 355 Nassau Street on Saturday, March 6, its proprietors are five Princeton women.

Nordcraft will offer yarns and patterns for knitting and crocheting in Scandinavian and other styles; instruction kits for making pillows, wall-hangings and rugs in striking designs and colors; designs for embroidering items from bellpells to glasses cases; and gifts such as candlesticks, trays, bags, jewelry, mobiles, baskets and similar articles. Nordcraft is located in Princeton Plaza, the shopping area being developed on Nassau east of Harrison Street. It will be operated by Elsa Grande, Betty Marshall, Elsie Midtun, Annelise Plehn and Anne-Marie Woodrow.

JOURNALS OFFERED

On Microfilm. Princeton Microfilm Corporation and Excerpta Medica Foundation of Amsterdam, Netherlands, have concluded an agreement whereby Excerpta Medica's 39 medical abstracting journals will be offered to academic and research libraries on microfilm. Complete backfiles and annual updates of all sections will be available in a variety of forms — 16mm or 35mm positive or negative microfilm loaded in reels or cartridges. The material will be arranged and coded to facilitate the rapid retrieval of citations. The program will be compiled and produced by Princeton Microfilm Corporation and marketed jointly by the two organizations.

MERGER ANNOUNCED

By Princeton Time Sharing. Princeton Time Sharing Services will merge with a wholly owned subsidiary of Cambridge Computer Corporation, subject to the preparation and execution of a formal agreement by both parties and the approval of the shareholders of PTSS. Under the tentative agreement all of the outstanding capital stock of Princeton would be exchanged for Cambridge stock at the rate of one share of Cambridge stock for each 4.5 shares of Princeton stock or an aggregate of approximately 159,409 shares of Cambridge stock.

Dr. Theodore A. Dolotta, PTSS president, said his firm would continue its present business activities and increase Cambridge's capability in the servicing of its existing and proposed facility management contracts. PTSS offers remote access and batch computing services, subscription fulfillment and list management services, as well as computer facilities management services.

NEW FILM AVAILABLE

From Bell Telephone. A new 14 minute film, "Network," a portrait of the flow of communications in the '70s, is now available for general public showings through New Jersey Bell's motion picture service. Photographed in color, "Network" is designed to show physical, human, organizational and innovation resources which contribute to the nation's communications strength. Featured in the film are telephone messages from the moon and outer space, data transmission during complex medical treatment, and teaching and learning techniques for young students through television and computers.

"Network" utilizes some of the most modern film techniques including split-screen action and electronic music and is available in 16 and 35mm. It was produced for the Bell System by Owen Murphy Productions. Schools, civic organizations and other adult groups desiring a print of the film may arrange to borrow it, without charge, from their local telephone company business office.

margin to 57-39. It was 106-71 at the final buzzer.

During the game, Rutgers Prep's 6-8 center, Paul Smith, tallied his 1,000 point in his high school career and was standing one for Smith. He's just a sophomore.

Mark Ellsworth had 17 points for PDS, and Carl Jacobelli, 15. Steve Bash led the PDS scorers with 11 points last Wednesday in a 41-40 win over Bryn Athyn PDS jumped out to a 15-5 lead at the first quarter, but fell to a 22-21 advantage at the half. The teams scored evenly in the final two periods, with the Panthers adding a point to their lead in each one.

HOME FINALE FRIDAY
For School Quilting, The Hun School basketball team will play its final home game of the season Friday afternoon against George School. Tipoff is 3:45.

Hun will end its season Monday afternoon at Princeton School. The contest was originally scheduled for this Wednesday but Hun coach Dave Williams reported that it was postponed at the request of Princeton, which is participating in the annual Class B boys' basketball tournament.

Whether Hun can salvage a season by going out on a high note at best, but

George and Pennington are enjoying fine seasons and have posted earlier wins this season over the faltering Johnny Hun. To date, Hun has won only a third of its games — six of 18.

In its most recent outing, Hun stopped punchless Academy of New Church (29-38), it broke open the low scoring contest by rolling off 10 straight points at the start of the final period — six by Rick Ziegler and four by co-captain Mike Gianduglio. Ziegler led Hun with 12 points.

Earlier in the week, Princeton Central outscored visiting Hun in every period to record an easy 71-57 win. Dirk Whithead, 17 points, and Ziegler (11) paced the lovers.

PHS BOWS, 67-62

To Ewing Quilting, A big third period in which visiting Ewing outscored the Princeton High School basketball team, 23 to 6, was all the Blue Devils needed Tuesday to make PHS its 17th victim of the season.

The Little Tigers (219) were hounded by Ewing's full court press and were forced into numerous turnovers. Bill Evers led the losers with 15 points. Terminates Tony Babin, 12 points, and Tim Nuding added nine each.

Tickets on Sale for IC4-A Meet Here

Tickets are on sale at Jachin Gym for the 50th annual IC4-A indoor track meet which will be held there Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon, March 5 and 6. Admission is free to the Friday afternoon program starting at 6 and $3 for the events which will begin at 6 that evening.

Saturday afternoon, when virtually every final event will be held, has a ticket scale of $3 and $5, with all seats reserved. Checks should be made payable to Princeton University and sent to IC4-A Tickets, P.O. Box 71, Princeton, accompanied by a 20-cent postage stamp. In search of improved times and ability to stage its meet over a two-day period, the IC4-A has abandoned Madison Square Garden in favor of Jachin, a decision that permitted access for four events to the program. Entrants are expected from upwards of 60 colleges among the 84 holding membership in the association.

son for the Princeton High School hockey team will be played Friday evening at 8 at Peddie.

In addition, the Little Tigers were scheduled to play the Princeton Day School boys' basketball this Wednesday afternoon at the PHS rink. Presently, Princeton's Doherty's PHS skaters own a 1-8 record.

Friday, an experienced visiting Demarest Hockey Club was too much for the home team, as it peppered the PHS goal with 11 scoring shots. PHS got one by right wing Ted Delano. "We were hit by sickness and absenteeism," said Doherty. Several members of the squad were sidelined with flu, including high-scoring co-captain Steve Sanford and goalie Brooks Mohrman. Others were off on a school ski trip.

JOHN CONROY HONORED
By Lawn Tennis Association. John Conroy, who has guided the Princeton University tennis team for more than 25 years, has been awarded the National Tennis Education Merit Award.

Given annually in recognition for achievement in the development of tennis among the nation's youth, the award is sponsored on behalf of the officers of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. In his years at Princeton, Conroy has enjoyed consistent success and has made the Tigers one of the finest college teams in the country. A co-director of the Princeton Community Tennis Program which has received national acclaim, Mr. Conroy is also a member of the Princeton Recreation Board and the author of several tennis books.

5 MILLION GIVEN
To Princeton for Coordination. Princeton University now has in hand the $10 million that it established as its initial funding objective for coordination.

The goal has been reached primarily through support from two major sources, one of which — a $5 million bequest from the estate of Cyrus H. McCormick of the Princeton Class of 1929 — was announced Saturday by R. Manning Brown '36, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the University's Board of Trustees. News of the bequest was reported by Mr. Brown to some 1,000 alumni and guests at the 57th annual midwinter meeting of the Princeton Alumni Association.

The initial funding for education of undergraduate men at Princeton came from a $4 million pledge by Laurence S. Rockefeller '32, given as a memorial to his grandmother, Laura Spelman Rockefeller. In accepting Mr. Rockefeller's gift for coordination, the University committed itself to providing a comparable sum for this purpose from other sources. Other gifts totaling about $1 million complete the initial funding objectives of $10 million.

Mr. McCormick, a Princeton classmate of Woodrow Wilson and a University Trustee for nearly five decades, was the son of the founder of the International Harvester Company. He died in 1936, leaving his estate in trust for the lifetime benefit of his two sons. Gordon, a 1917 graduate of Princeton who died in 1967, and Cyrus H., a 1912 graduate who died last year.

total in excess of $3 million. It was announced at the Alumni Day luncheon.

The campaign, which began in November and closed Monday, provided unrestricted funds used mainly to help meet operating costs. A detailed study of Princeton's budget for the current year, recently released, assumed the current annual giving campaign to provide $3.1 million, slightly up from last year's total. The final total for this year's drive will exceed the $3.1 million projection.

HOSPITAL TOPS GOAL

Raises More Than $325,000. Ralph S. Mason was elected president of the Princeton Hospital board of trustees Monday following the 51st annual meeting of the corporate membership, which heard that the annual fund drive for $325,000 had been oversubscribed by $735.49.

"I apologize for leaving our hospital in debt by $4½ million," said George W. Conover, retiring as president of the Board after 21 years of service. He went on to explain that the indebtedness merely reflected the trustees' determination to provide the best of hospital care and facilities "for the community and our patients".

In additional comments following his reading of the Hospital's "Report to the Community for '71", the outgoing officer called for a "reverse" of "restrictions" imposed by municipalities in future hospital planning and construction. "We will ask the municipal planning authorities to waive parking requirements in favor of health care facilities," he said. Parking has been removed from a top priority and placed on the secondary list of needs by the hospital's master planning committee. The hospital's previously announced plan to build a parking garage has been put aside because of the cost of land acquisition on the proposed Henry Avenue location and construction expense.

"It was felt that the million plus dollars required to acquire land and construct a parking garage would be better spent for more beds and services," the report explained.

Other officers elected as the trustees reorganized for the year were Dr. Robert S. Garber, vice president; Frederick

P. Lawrence, treasurer; George R. Webster and Richard W. Baker, Jr., assistant treasurers; and Samuel Frathing, secretary.

Service awards were presented to 33 employees by Mr. Conover. A watch was presented to Executive Vice President John W. Kaufman in recognition of 25 years of service as administrator and in his present post, created last year. Administrator Walter Seligman, who is on an European sabbatical, was awarded a 15-year button.

Mrs. Dorothy Alexander of the laundry was the only recipient of a 29-year pin.

YW PLANS LUNCHEONS

To Study Contemporary Issues. Dr. Suzanne Keller will open the Spring Contemporary Issues Series II at The Young Women's Christian Association Thursday, March 4, at 12:30. Her topic will be "The Contemporary Family: Changes and Prospects."

Dr. Suzanne Keller

Reservations for the luncheon meeting must be made with the YWCA office by Monday. Nursery care will be available.

Urban planning, social stratification, the family, and so on of the future are among the central areas of interest for Dr. Keller, Professor of Sociology at Princeton University.

Sponsored by the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA, the three-part series will consider current social concerns. The last two sessions are set for April 1 and May 6, when "Adolescent Crises Today" and "Issues of Testing" will be the topics.

Attendance at all sessions is open to anyone in the Princeton area with a reservation and all programs are scheduled so that luncheon, lecture and discussion fit into the business luncheon hour.

DANCE PARTY PLANNED Open to All Sunday. An all day program of music and dance planned for Sunday will feature two authorities in American folk culture. Roger Sprung and Glenn Bannerman will bring authentic Appalachian-style music and dance to Princeton as part of the Princeton Folk Dance Group's expanded series of recreational activities for the community.

At 2 p.m. in the boys' gym of Princeton High School, Mr. Bannerman will begin teaching the traditional southern mountain square dance which puts all the dancers in one big ring and, combining old Irish, Scottish and English figures with the stomp of the native Cherokee, produces the authentic and exciting American folk idiom called "clogging." His ability as a dance leader was singled out last summer at Asheville's Mountain Dance and Folk Festival where he won the Festival's "Best Square Dance Caller" award.

Between dance sets, there will be folk music for listening only. To help defray expenses, an optional donation will be asked.

The boys' gym is on the Walnut Lane side of the high school, where parking is available. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Barbara Smith, 607 Randall Road, 921-7883.

News Of The CHURCHES

TWO SERVICES SET

For World Day of Prayer, The Princeton Council of Church Women United will sponsor two services at the United Methodist Church, 300 Main Street, in observance of World Day of Prayer next Friday, March 6. The theme for the day is "New Life Awaits."

Mrs. Samuel Moffett, former missionary in Korea, will speak at the 10 a.m. service. The Rev. Dr. George Sweazy, former moderator of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., will speak during the evening service at 8 p.m. Moffett is the author of several books and a Bible study guide. Dr. Sweazy is pastor of the Webster Grove Presbyterian Church in St. Louis and is this year professor of homiletics at Princeton Seminary.

The youth group from First Baptist Church will sing during the morning service, and singers from Mount Pisgah A.M.E. church will provide the music in the evening. World Day of Prayer is an international event, has been observed for 60 years. The offering benefits the continuing efforts of the Christian Mission, reaching those engaged in national parks, retired speakers, international students overseas, women engaged in experimental missions, migrant workers, and Indian and Spanish-speaking people. Mexican women in border cities, an aid program in Freedom City, Miss., a seminary in Djakarta, and a children's reading program in Africa and Asia.

FR. GIBNEY TO SPEAK

In University Chapel, The Rev. Laurence Gibney, Catholic chaplain and spokesman for the New York City prisoners during the riots last fall, will speak this Sunday at the regular service in the University Chapel. His appearance is sponsored by the Aquinas Institute.

Fr. Gibney has been a prison chaplain in New York State since 1954. He came to the Tombs (Manhattan House of Detention) in 1960. During the riots he was one of the principal advocates and spokesmen for the grievances of the prisoners. On October 9, he was ordered out of the Tombs by Correction Commissioner George F. McGrath on the grounds that his continued presence served as an incentive to the rebellious prisoners and could endanger the lives of the hostages they had seized.

After an investigation of his role in the riots, Fr. Gibney was returned to his post on October 21. Commissioner McGrath stated "It is clear that he acted in the best interests of all concerned — the prisoners, personnel and inmates."

Alcoholism in Princeton (Continued from Cover)

what he's been through except another alcoholic. Speakers are usually Alcoholics Anonymous members or other interested persons. Princeton AA members visit a field to speak.

The big annual meeting of the week is the Friday night gathering in Hargraves at the Reformed Church. Friday night, 125 people went to that meeting... and had a perfectly wonderful time.

Incidentally, although AA has no membership lists, everyone knows who's in it. At 125 people were at Friday night's meeting because coffee had to be provided, and plenty of it. This is the coffee-drinking organization in the country.

Most meetings in Princeton have been around for some years. Witherspoon Presbyterian Church has had a group for at least 15 years, and the groups at Trinity have been going there for about 15 years.

Trinity's Wednesday night meetings involve everyone. Men and women meet separately in closed sessions. An Alcoholics Anonymous group known as "Alanon" meets at the same time. This is the organization of husbands and wives of alcoholics. They have their problems too. The fourth group to meet at Trinity is "Alateen," for teenagers. It's formed nationally to help teenage sons and daughters of alcoholics understand a parent's problem.

Meetings at Carrier Clinic and Princeton House are regarded as particularly important because they are geared to alcoholics who are patients in these two institutions. At these meetings, patients are introduced to Alcoholics Anonymous as a gang, living concern.

And indeed it is. The 35-year old organization provides the most vital and supportive kind of fellowship. "We stay sober by helping one another."

But the AA members find a way of explaining it. One member says AA members have "an intense feeling of being 'in' together."

AA's share their problems and spend much of their time on the phone. They're always keeping an eye on a new member, helping a member find a job, taking over a family problem or — just talking.

AA has two basic tenets: admit you are an alcoholic and your problem and admit that a Power greater than yourself can restore you to sanity.

But our AA members say why they are the atheists among the membership. "We may not all have the same God, but we all have the same Devil," this member says.

There is no membership requirement except a desire to stop drinking. There are no dues: the fee is passed at the end of a meeting and you can put in a nickel or a $100 bill.

Anonymity is strictly observed. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Violet N. Schiller; a son, John of San Antonio, Tex.; two daughters, Mrs. Joann Jullian of San Antonio and Gretchen of Great Falls, Mont.; a mother, Mrs. Walter Schiller of East Orange, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Collins of Dunellen.

The service was held in Bordentown, with interment in Princeton National Cemetery. Memorial gifts may be sent to Princeton University.

Agosto Padovini, 90, of Crutcher Road, Hopewell, died February 17 in Mercer Hospital. He was the widower of Rosa M. Padovini.

Born in Italy, Mr. Padovini lived in Hopewell for 35 years. He was a retired employee of the Masse Construction Company.

The service was held at the Brenna Funeral Home, Trenton, with interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Every Day There's An "A.A." Meeting

Here is the schedule of Alcoholics Anonymous meetings in the Princeton area. The doors are open and newcomers are always invited. A "closed" meeting is for alcoholics only; both newcomers and long-standing members. "Open" meetings are for alcoholics and interested people such as social workers and doctors who do not alter "closed" meetings.

Monday, 8:30 p.m.; Carrier Clinic, Belle Mead. Closed. Speaker and orientation session.

Monday, 8:30 p.m.; Trinity Church, Mercer Street, Princeton. Open, speaker, discussion.

Tuesday, noon; Rocky Hill Reformed Church, luncheon. Open, with discussion.

Tuesday, 9 p.m.; Cranbury Presbyterian Church. Open, discussion.

Tuesday, 9 p.m.; Princeton House Mt. Lucas Road. Closed, discussion.

Wednesday, 8:30 p.m.; Trinity Church, Princeton, four meetings. Closed, separate meetings for men and women. "Alateen," the organization for teens with an alcoholic parent.

Thursday, 9 p.m.; Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, Princeton. Open, speaker, with discussion.

Friday, 9 p.m.; Hargraves, Reformed Church. Open, speaker.

Friday, 9 p.m.; Highstown, Seventh Day Adventist Church, Broad St. Open, discussion.

Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Franklin Park, St. Barnabas' Episcopal Church, Sand Hill Road.

Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Clover Hill, Reformed Church Route 514 between Route 206 and Route 31; open, discussion.

Saturday, 9 p.m.; Princeton House, Mt. Lucas Road. Open, speaker.

Sunday, 8 a.m.; Hopewell, St. Alfonso's Church, Princeton Avenue. Open, discussion, speaker.

In Princeton, AA maintains a hot line telephone number 24 hours a day. It's 609-924-7329. That number, incidentally, doesn't mean that AA has a taxi service to bring a drunk home from a bar. Call the number to find out where meetings are if you lose track of the schedule in this issue — or call it if you want help on your drinking problem. Or write P.O. Box 558, Princeton.

Throughout this account, we've said "you" but of course, "you" aren't an alcoholic. Alcoholics are other people. To find out where you stand, AA suggests a test. If you're a heavy drinker, don't just go on the wagon — even an out-of-control drinker can do that for a while — instead follow this schedule:

For three months, drink from one to three average-size drinks each day. Never fewer than one. Never more than three. If you can keep this up for three months, maybe you don't have a drinking problem.

There's a window is an inspiration to spring. The romanticism is back. LOVE...

to specialize in creating illusions. The sweeping, almost two acres appears more than that; the brick and shingle split looks like a rambling ranch house; and the wide open setting actually provides a great deal of privacy, especially in the spacious, well-landscaped fenced pool and terrace area.
The interior is enhanced by such touches as a wide, raised-beam, paneled fireplace, set back between bookshelves; dining room low window and built-in corner cupboards; handsome flagstone entrance hall.

VITAL STATISTICS: large, dropped living room, dining room, well-planned kitchen/breakfast; laundry, big paneled family room with walk-in equipped bar, 4 or 5 good bedrooms (depending on use of a paneled library), 2½ baths, closets galore, screened porch, 2 car garage, fenced breezeway for carnie would-be wanderers, pleasant Lawrenceville location. $75,000

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE: we sold this house, or rather it sold itself, to its present owners, who are new to the area of state and who were then died-in-the-wool, not-to-be-uprooted Princetonians!

A PRINCETON WILDCARDEN: Banked with pachysandra, sludded with rocks, and wound with paths and handmade stone walls, with a shimmering lily pool to reflect the primeval trees overhead — the perfect foil for this artistic rambling Township house. Few rooms, but large, include: a richly paneled living room with fireplace, wall of bookcases, and door to a terrace; dining room, also opening to the terrace; cheerful, well-equipped kitchen; bar; and brick-floored garden room, with high ceiling and wall of glass. There are two bedrooms, one on the ground floor with its own bath, and the other, up a winding stairway from the garden room. The latter is enormous, enjoys a woody vista through a wide window wall, and boasts the plushiest bath-dressing room this side of Hollywood. Not without flaws, but it could be a dream for a couple or a bachelor. Offered here for the first time at $68,500

LIKE A WELL CUT TWEED JACKET THAT YOU'VE HAD FOR YEARS This unpretentious, casually elegant country house will make you warm and comfortable the minute you're inside. On 3 spectacular, half acres less than 10 minutes northwest of Princeton, it contains room-sized entrance hall, lovely large living room with fireplace, vaulted ceiling and french doors to the terrace; sunny dining room with a marvelous view, cozy sitting room, powder room and kitchen. 3 Twin bedrooms — 2 baths up. The answer to a couples dreams at $75,000

It has a large covered patio for outdoor living, the living-dining room is exceptionally large with glass sliders to patio, kitchen has a dinette, paneled family room, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, garage — all this on a nice lot in Princeton Junction. $38,500

An investment property in Montgomery Township with 2 well-kept cozy homes. The large one has living room, dining room, kitchen, den or bedroom and powder room on first floor, and 2 bedrooms, bath on second floor. The smaller house has living room, dining room, bedroom, kitchen and bath plus roughed in powder room. These are on 3+ acres, both houses have basements. $19,500

This new house is located on a lot almost an acre in size. Entrance hall with twin guest closets, living room with fireplace, paneled family room, separate dining room, kitchen with breakfast area, laundry-powder room, and a den. Second floor has 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. $45,500

Country living but not isolated. Located on a one-acre professionally landscaped lot is this 4 bedroom Split-Level. Living room, dining room, hall and stairs are carpeted. Modern kitchen, paneled family room, laundry room, basement and 2-car garage. $46,590

Looking for a large 4 bedroom house that is quite different? Its informal appearance give the impression of a very relaxing atmosphere inside. The master bedroom runs the full depth of the house with large closets (one a walk-in) and full bath. There are 3 other bedrooms and bath. Good size living room, cozy paneled family room with fireplace, nice dining room and a well equipped kitchen with breakfast area; laundry area off kitchen, powder room, large basement that can be converted into a recreation room. Situated on a corner lot with the double garage entrance to the side of the house. $46,750

One of the low available new homes in town — centrally located. It has 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, paneled family room, living room, dining room, good size kitchen with breakfast area, laundry area, full basement and 2-car garage. Nice large lot in front yard. $47,500

A new area in West Windsor Township. Large Colonial with six bedrooms available in May. Spacious family room with fireplace, kitchen with nook, large living room, formal dining room, 2 1/2 baths, and a 2-car garage. $47,750

This year old home is in better than new condition. It will be comfortable this summer with its central air conditioning. Tastefully decorated — attractive light fixtures. It has 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, paneled family room with fireplace, living room, dining room, kitchen with breakfast area, laundry area, basement and 2-car garage. $47,900

Beautiful air-conditioned one year old Colonial in better than new condition. Large entrance foyer, spacious living room, dining room, paneled family room with fireplace. Also attractive eat-in kitchen, powder room and utility room all on first floor. Four bedrooms and two baths on second floor. Ample storage space, basement, attached two-car garage and covered rear patio. $48,900

Close to commuting and schools is this 2 story Colonial. It offers basement, flagstone entrance foyer, living room with fireplace, dining room, paneled family room, modern kitchen with breakfast area. Five bedrooms, 3 full baths, central air-conditioning, and many extras. Backdrop drive and patio. Just over a year old. $54,900

"Truly country living but not isolated." Older farm house, renovated, has living room with dining area, modern kitchen, heated sun room, 1 bedroom and two baths on first floor. Two bedrooms on second floor plus 5 room rented apartment on second and third floor. Large barn suitable for cattle or horses, etc. on 12 1/2 acres of tillable land. $55,000

The location of this Colonial in Princeton is lovely. It is on a hill and overlooks property with a park-like setting — refreshing just to sit. It has 4 bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths, foyer, living room, dining room, paneled family room with corner fireplace, kitchen with breakfast area, laundry room, basement and 2-car garage. $59,900

One of the oldest landscaped lots we've seen in this area — with the lot backing up to a beautiful private wooded section. Almost all brick, the house has so many special extras. The living room is spacious with fireplace and a large dining el. The beautifully paneled family room also has a fireplace. Kitchen has relaxing view from its picture window — there are 4 large bedrooms, enclosed porch, full basement, 2-car garage. Patio conveys a relaxing atmosphere with the lovely surrounding gardens. $81,500
